Hawaiian tour plane lost; 11 aboard

Hearst girl's fiance has plan for negotiating her release

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The fiance of Patricia Hearst proposed Thursday night that the Symbionese Liberation Army be allowed to fly her to a foreign country and there negotiate her release.

"I would like to see them demand a plane out of the country, take some money with them ... and set up a line of communication in some other country,' said Steve Weed in an interview on KQED, a San Francisco television station.

He said he had been working on the plan for several weeks, but he did not spell out the details. The FBI acknowledged last week the Hearst family was considering such a plan.

Weed also said Miss Hearst 'is being set up in some cruel way.'

'The SLA, if not planning to kill her themselves .. then they're planning to get her in a situation with the FBI where she might get killed.'

Miss Hearst said in a tape recorded message received April 3 that she was joining the underground terrorist group. Weed said he was "suspicious" and "stunned."

"This whole thing is a cruel hoax being played on her," the blond, mustachioed graduate student said. "Either she's dead or will be soon."

Weed, 26, is a philosophy student at the University of California in Berkeley, where he and Miss Hearst lived before she was abducted Feb. 4.

Weed said the escape proposal had been discussed "quite a bit, actually," by the Hearst family. "But I can't say too much about it right now because it's not really our decision. The SLA has to decide how they want to get out of this. All we can do is try to cover the possibilities."

Charles Bates, FBI agent in charge of the investigation, said he would not rule out the possibility Miss Hearst would be released in a foreign country.

Miss Hearst's parents, Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and his wife Catherine, were resting at Las Cruces, south of La Paz, Mexico.

Extensive land, sea search on

HONOLULU (UPI) — An air-sea search was pressed today for a twin-engine tour plane which vanished with 11 persons aboard.

The Coast Guard said the plane carried a pilot, identified as Vincent E. Morine, and five couples who had been staying at the Ilikai and Reef hotels in Honolulu. The passengers' identities were withheld.

The plane was one of eight which left the Keahole Airport in Kona on the island of Hawaii Thursday. The other seven landed at the Kahului Airport on Maui.

Search planes flew over the rugged terrain near the Hawaii Volcanoes National Park on the big island, where a private pilot reported sighting wreckage. After a closer look, however, he was unable to confirm the report.

Coast Guard planes and cutters along with Air Force craft also searched the ocean channel between Hawaii and Maui.

All eight planes had been leased by the Panorama AIR Tour Co.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the missing plane had lifejackets aboard, but no liferafts, flares or other rescue gear.

CLOSE CALL

Two cars of an elevated train derailed shortly before the evening rush hour in downtown Chicago Thursday, disrupting traffic and injuring at least 27 persons, none of them seriously. About 50 persons were on the cars. Derailment occurred as the train tried to round a curve.

Jury finds Boyle guilty in slaying of Yablonskis

MEDIA, Pa. (UPI) — A jury convicted W.A. "Tony" Boyle Thursday of setting in motion the 1969 Yablonski murders and financing the killings with union funds while he was president of the United Mine Workers.

Boyle, 72, who ruled the violent union from 1960 to 1970, was the ninth and final defendant to be convicted in the four years since UMW leader Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter were shot to death while they slept in their Clarksville, Pa., home.

The verdict climaxed one of the nation's most complex murder investigations, begun by the careless discarding of beer cans by paid killers on the night of the slayings.

Boyle, recuperating from a drug overdose taken shortly after he was indicted last September on federal charges in the case, sat passively while the jury was polled. His only action was a sad wave to his wife and daughter before leaving the courtroom in a wheelchair.

Defense attorney Charles Moses, in his only emotional outburst of the trial, demanded a 30-day extension to file briefs for a new trial. Delaware County Judge Frank Catania ruled, however, Moses would receive only the customary seven-day period.

The jury of nine men and three women deliberated six hours before finding Boyle guilty of three counts of first degree murder in the Dec. 31, 1969, slayings. He faces automatic life sentences on each count under Pennsylvania law.

Kenneth Yablonski, a son who discovered his family's bodies on Jan. 5, 1970, embraced special prosecutor Richard Sprague in the courtroom, saying:

"You can't know how I thank you."

Sprague, who directed the prosecution from the case's beginning, said the results showed how "effective law enforcement can get to people at the top."

"Mr. Boyle was the initiator of this crime and he was the beginning, and we've gone from the end and traced it back to the beginning, and an American jury has decided," Sprague said.

Jerusalem re-enacts crucifixion

JERUSALEM (UPI) — About 3,000 Christian pilgrims chanting prayers and singing hymns wound through the old city's narrow Via Dolorosa today, reenacting the crucifixion of Jesus Christ almost 2,000 years ago.

The pilgrims, many of them carrying wooden crosses on their shoulders, stopped at each of the 14 stations along the way where tradition says Christ stopped to rest on his way to Mount Calvary. They sang and prayed in English, French, Arabic and Greek as they moved toward the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, focus of the Good Friday and Easter Sunday services.

As it happens every four years, the western and eastern Christian churches observed Good Friday on the same day. The eastern churches, including Greek and Armenian Orthodox and Egyptian Coptic, follow a different calendar and usually celebrate Holy Week services on different dates.

2 Glendora cyclists die in collision

SAN DIMAS — Two Glendora men were killed Thursday night when their motorcycle struck the rear of a pickup truck on Interstate 210 near San Dimas Avenue and overturned.

Both riders were hurled to the pavement by the impact. One man was then run over by an oncoming car.

The victims were identified as Robert Dexter, 34, and William Clair Hoover, 34, both of 153 Payson St. Identity of the driver wasn't immediately determined, since both men wore similar clothes.

Dexter was taken to San Dimas Community Hospital, where he was declared dead on arrival. Hoover was pronounced dead at the scene. Their bodies were taken to Todd Memorial Chapel pending funeral arrangements.

The motorcycle was traveling west on the freeway at a high speed when it passed one car, whipped back in front of it and then struck the back of the pickup, said highway patrolmen.

The impact caused the small truck to overturn and it landed along the pavement. The driver, Villah Jane Adams, 53, of 1233 E. Swain St., Glendora, suffered minor injuries. She received treatment at the San Dimas hospital.

The overturned motorcycle and one of its riders was then run over by a car driven by Patricia Ann Cheney, 32, of 1802 Inola St., Glendora.

The one victim was on the freeway. The collision knocked the motorcycle to an outside lane, where it caught fire.

Officers said the auto was the one passed by the motorcycle just prior to its collision with the truck.

The driver reported she was following the pickup at about 55 miles per hour. The motorcycle was going about 70 miles per hour when it passed her, then changed back into the second lane between her car and the pickup, she said.

U.S. firms to build air defense system for Saudi Arabians

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials this week said that the Raytheon Co. has signed a contract to deliver to Saudi Arabia an advanced Hawk antiaircraft missile system worth between $260 million and $270 million.

The system is designed to improve the defense system around principal cities and oil installations in Saudi Arabia.

It involves, according to the officials, the latest in guidance' control and detection devices.

It was understood that approximately 200 U.S. technicians would go to Saudi Arabia to install and check out the system, with a smaller number remaining there for some time to instruct the Saudis in its operation.

Nader claims Simon favors oil industry

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader said Thursday Federal Energy Chief William Simon was working in the interests of the major oil firms and against those of the consumer.

Speaking to a group of Michigan State University students, Nader said Simon, "as an energy czar, has really performed admirably for the oil majors.

"He's become their (oil companies) official price escalator," Nader said. "He's sort of like the weatherman. (You ask) what's coming, Mr. Simon, and he says, "well, higher gas prices, I'm afraid."

Expect Simon to succeed Shultz

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon is expected to nominate shortly his energy chief, William E. Simon, as new Treasury Secretary. A White House spokesman said today an announcement probably will be made next week.

Simon has been widely reported to be the choice to succeed George Shultz in the job and an administration source said he would be replaced as federal energy administrator by his deputy, John Sawhill.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, said in response to questions today that there was "no problem" with respect to the appointment and "I now expect it sometime next week." Warren did not mention Simon's name.

Webster garbage collection 'limps along' despite strike

By BOB NAGEY
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The collection of garbage continued to limp along today in the areas of the Pomona Valley serviced by the Webster Refuse Disposal Service, despite a strike by the Teamsters.

Reports from cities here indicated that the collections were slow, but that they were being made.

Webster picks up trash from the unincorporated area around Pomona, from Diamond Bar, and from the cities of La Verne, San Dimas, Walnut, as well as from Rowland Heights and Valinda.

Foster Nichol, manager of the Baldwin Park garbage collection company, said about 50 per cent of the firm's employes had joined the strike, and that those who stayed on the job were joined by the administrative staff and others.

"We're a little slow, but we're making it." he said.

According to Nichol, the strike began Wednesday after the company refused to recognize Local 420 of the Building Materials and Dump Truck Drivers, an affiliate of the Teamsters, without a certified election by the National Labor Relations Board.

"We're not against the formation of a union," he said. "But we want an election to make sure the majority of our employes really want representation by the union."

He charged that many of those who stayed away from the job did so because they had been "threatened and coerced, and were afraid to oppose the Teamsters."

He said some of those who showed up for work found nails under the tires of their cars.

Nichol said his company was willing to consider the jurisdiction of the union, but only after a certified election is held.

Gals take over town hall: men 'too busy'

WALTHOURVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Women began running this small South Georgia town Thursday because they said the men were too busy to bother with government.

Lynal Anderson was sworn in as mayor and five other women were named to the city council Wednesday after the state approved a petition of incorporation signed by 300 of the town's 413 residents.

They served their first full day in office Thursday and seemed to relish their tasks.

Mrs. Anderson said the women got active in town affairs because the town had no "city fathers," adding, "The men are too busy earning a living to bother with local government and politics."

Chino dairy given clean bill on raw milk issue

CHINO — The Alta-Dena dairy returned to production of certified raw milk today after tests for brucellosis in the Chino herd showed no evidence of infection.

The quarantine on the herd was lifted by C. B. Christensen, director of the state department of agriculture, and the dairy announced today that it was distributing 7,000 gallons of raw milk and raw milk products daily to Southland outlets.

A spokesman for the dairy charged, at the same time, that the move that had shut down the production of raw milk for the past month was "another of a series of attempts by the county health department to discredit the name of Alta-Dena."

"We won an injunction in 1969 against the health department. They have never forgiven us for it," dairy official Paul Virgin contended.

He said that the dairy was contemplating new law suits against the county, including a restraining order enjoining the health department from continuing its campaign to "crucify the dairy through half-truths and unreasonable actions."

Virgin said the dairy, the only one in the county producing certified raw milk and milk products, lost more than $250,000 during the past month as the result of the health department's "haste to comdemn" attitude.

"We feel the Chino herd was never infected," he maintained. "The cows that were slaughtered to conduct the tests were subsequently sold in the meat markets without any objections by the health department."

Although the ban on the milk of the Chino herd was lifted, tests continued on the Industry herd which is suspected of carrying salmonella dublin, a less virulent milk bacteria.

Virgin said two tests already have been run on the herd, and a third, the final one, is scheduled in two weeks.

He again insisted that the dairy was being harassed by the health department.

"Sixty per cent of the chickens sold in the meat markets are contaminated by salmonella dublin, and nothing happens," he said. "The health department singled us out of all of the state's herds to run the tests.'

He charged that the health department had caused the whole thing to blow out of proportion by the issuance to the press of "half-truths and insinuations."

U.S. copters on way to help clear Suez

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Aircraft carrying helicopter minesweepers to help clear the Suez Canal of mines laid since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war are on their way from the United States to Egypt, the Pentagon has announced.

The eight helicopters, flown aboard C5A cargo planes, will be based aboard the USS Iwo Jima, a helicopter assault ship that frequently cruises the Mediterranean carrying a Marine landing force.

The Arab states have complained often over the years that such Marine landing teams were a threat to them and have alleged in periods of crisis that the United States was planning to use them for amphibious assaults.

The Pentagon has said the actual minesweeping operation will begin within two weeks and take at least a few months.

Task 'not too difficult' in convicting Tony Boyle

ESSINGTON, Pa. (UPI) — The foreman of the jury which convicted former United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle in the 1969 Yablonski slayings Thursday said there was "not too much difficulty" in reaching the verdicts.

Clyde M. Parris, of Folsom, Pa., a testing laboratory supervisor for Sun Oil Co., said "There were never any firm votes for not guilty" from the nine men and three women during the six hours of deliberation that resulted in three first-degree murder counts against the 72-year-old Boyle.

Boyle was convicted of organizing and financing the killings of union reformer Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and home on Dec. 31, 1969.

The verdicts handed down in Delaware County Court carry an automatic life sentence for Boyle, who already is serving a three-year federal term for misuse of union funds and has not yet fully recovered from a suicide attempt last year. A formal sentencing date has not been set.

"Some (jurors) were not sure," said Parris in the lobby of a motel near the courthouse. "So we had some explanation and rehash of the evidence, but there was not too much difficulty."

The foreman explained that an initial vote was inconclusive, but that after the jury "listed all the points ... we had a verdict." The jurors heard testimony from 66 witnesses, including several who had confessed or were convicted in the slayings, during the 2 ½ week trial.

Complimenting the prosecution, defense and judge Francis Catania for having "handled it (trial) very well," Parris noted that special state prosecutor Richard Sprague "had an excellent presentation." Sprague has prosecuted successfully each of the six Yablonski murder trials, gaining four convictions and four confessions from persons involved in the killings.

"It's remarkable how we got along," Parris said of the rapport between jurors, adding that he thinks "this is the last time I'll serve, at least in a murder trial. It gets you uptight."

U.S. official kidnaped; may have been shot

CORDOBA, Argentina (UPI) — Leftist guerrillas today kidnaped Alfred Laun, U.S. Embassy branch public affairs officer in this central Argentine city, police announced.

Police said they believed Laun tried to fight off his abductors and was wounded before being dragged into one of two cars with eight armed men and one woman.

The People's Revolutionary Army (ERP), an outlawed Marxist guerrilla group, took credit for the kidnaping in communiques delivered to news media.

As Fahmi left the State Department after seeing Kissinger, he told reporters the secretary was continuing to work "very hard" to achieve an Israeli-Syrian disengagement. Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev had been critical of Kissinger's efforts Thursday.

Fahmi said of his discussions with Kissinger: "We discussed bilateral problems and the Middle East. The talks were constructive and useful as usual and I am glad about the results of our discussions.

"I am convinced that the secretary is working very hard and is continuing to achieve a disengagement agreement on the Israeli-Syrian front."

A police spokesman said the kidnaping occurred at 8:30 a.m. at Laun's home in a tree-lined residential area of Unquillo, a small town 15 miles from Cordoba.

"The neighbors told us they heard several shots and saw how the kidnapers dragged Mr. Laun toward one of the cars," the police spokesman said. "We found bloodstains on the floor of the house and a short trail leading to where one of the cars was parked. That's why we suppose that Mr. Laun is wounded."

Laun, a 36-year-old bachelor, is the only U.S. embassy officer in Cordoba, a troubled industrial city 420 miles northwest of Buenos Aires.

Ten days ago, another leftist guerrilla group, the Peronist Armed Forces with nominal loyalty to president Juan D. Peron took credit for the ambush slaying in Cordoba of Roberto Klecker, an Argentine executive of the FIAT-Concord auto factory.

Last Nov. 22, American auto executive John Swint, head of a Ford subsidiary in Cordoba was killed in a similar ambush for which the FAP took credit.

The ERP also is believed holding Victor E. Samuelson, 37, of Cleveland, Ohio, plant manager for Esso Argentina Oil Co., an Exxon Corp. subsidiary. Samuelson was kidnaped Dec. 6 and the company paid the ERP a record $14.2 million ransom for him March 14, but he has not been released.

Cordoba, Argentina's third largest city, is one of the country's most troubled areas, with the presence of foreign auto companies and a large organized labor force.

On Feb. 27, disgruntled police backed by armed right-wing activists deposed the governor of Cordoba province in an uprising that lasted more than a week and left nine persons dead.

Reagan defends Republicans in Phoenix outing

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California said Thursday night that people who are concerned about national problems should be made to understand that Republicans "have not been running the shop."

Reagan, here to address a $50-a-plate Republican fund raising dinner, said that those who are concerned with inflation, high taxes and big government, should bear in mind that Democrats have controlled Congress for 20 years. He said his administration has been faced with Democratic majorities in the California Legislature as well.

He said a Republican president should be given a congress of "his own persuasion,", and that the one time this happened, during President Eisenhower's first term, there was no increase in the cost of living.

Reagan said that President Nixon's tax problems were based on a "technicality in the law." He said other public officials had donated official papers and received a tax break and that Nixon apparently did not know that the provision allowing the practice had been ended before he made his donation.

"He thought he had done it in time," Reagan said. "Somebody in his shop just goofed."

Poll says President in slight comeback

NEW YORK (UPI) — With more public appearances, President Nixon's standing with the American people has begun to climb from its alltime low, according to the latest Louis Harris poll.

The President's popularity rose five points to 31 per cent in March from the low points of 26 per cent a month earlier, the Harris Survey said it found in a poll of 1,495 households.

Agreement on SALT this year is ruled out by Secretary Kissinger

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today ruled out any chance of final agreement with the Soviet Union this year on limiting nuclear strategic arms of the two superpowers.

Kissinger was questioned by reporters as he escorted Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmi to his limousine following a breakfast meeting.

Asked about the outlook for a permanent agreement in Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT), Kissinger replied:

Kissinger had hoped to gain a SALT breakthrough with the Soviets in a re-

"We will not have a permanent agreement this year. Whether there can be an agreement on part of it really is not clear yet.

"We are in the process of discussing it and we have to formulate some proposals now in response to the Soviet proposals and then we will know."

Kissinger had a heavy round of diplomatic activity today, starting with his talks with Fahmi on the Mideast situation. Then he switched back to Soviet-American relations by going to the White House to attend a meeting by Nixon with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, followed by a separate meeting by the secretary with his Russian counterpart.

Kissinger also had an appointment this afternoon with a Syrian delegation that arrived Wednesday to give a report on what Damascus is prepared to do to achieve a disengagement of Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights.

300,000 barrels of fuel oil are rejected by L.A.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Department of Water and Power officials insisted Thursday the city was still being shadowed by an energy crisis, yet at the same time turned away a shipment of 300,000 barrels of fuel oil.

The DWP also got the authorization to cancel' or delay, any other fuel deliveries that would further strain the utility's already overburdened storage facilities.

DWP officials emphasized that despite the unexpected surplus of fuel supplies—which exceed the available storage tanks—that Los Angeles still faces a possible energy crisis and that power conservation must continue.

DWP Board President Henry Bodkin Jr., said Thursday that conservation measures cut Los Angeles power use by more than 16 per cent.

Still, those same measures have helped cause a paradoxic rise in home electric bills because the city utility began to lose revenue when the cutbacks began.

The costs of electricity in Los Angeles has jumped by at least half since last October and is expected to continue to rise. Bodkin said another reason for the higher cost for electricity was the higher cost of buying fuel oil to feed the city's generators.

Accord reached in steel talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industry and union negotiators have reached a tentative contract settlement covering 350,000 basic steel industry workers, manageemnt officials said today.

The Basic Steel Industry Conference, comprised of presidents of some 800 locals of the United Steelworkers union (USW), met to decide whether to approve the agreement worked out by their negotiators with management bargainers representing the 10 biggest steel firms.

Terms of the settlement were not immediately disclosed.

A joint management-labor news conference was scheduled at the end of the local union presidents' meeting.

San Francisco No. 1 in heroin deaths

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco leads the nation in heroin deaths, according to Coroner Erwin J. Jindrich.

He said 29 persons died from heroin overdoses during the first three months of this year. He said this was just ahead of San Diego and New York but declined to note their figures.

Jindrich said only 40 persons died of heroin overdoses in the city all of last year. He said the new cases showed a higher purity of heroin than is usual in the drug cut by other substances for street sales.

One reason, he said, was a higher quality of heroin coming from Mexico.

EASTER TREE

Mrs. Tana Jones of Elektra, Tex., constructed a seven-foot Easter tree last year, and it made such a big hit she built one 18 feet high this year. It took her 500 hours and she admits "it's a shock."

Walnut will hire team of attorneys in lawsuit

WALNUT — This city will join 29 other contract cities in hiring a committee of attorneys to defend them against a lawsuit relating to sheriff's costs.

The suit filed by the city of Los Angeles in January seeks to set aside recent state legislation which put a ceiling on the amount of overhead costs the county can charge cities for sheriff services.

Los Angeles claims the legislation is unconstitutional, in that it involves a "gift of public funds," and seeks a judgment whereby the county may recover what it lost when cuts in sheriffs costs were made.

Councilmen Wednesday night, on advice of City Atty. Samuel Siegel, approved a minimal expenditure" of funds as its share of hiring six municipal attorneys. The lawyers include William Camil, Glen Watson, Ken Brown, Charlie Martin, John Todd and Siegel.

Siegel said the city's cost would be around $155, or 1-10 of 1 per cent of $155,000, Walnut's annual bill for sheriff services. That would pay for attorney fees and possible court costs, he added.

Walnut, thus, is joining with cities such as San Dimas, Industry and La Puente which contract for police protection from the sheriff's department.

In other action, councilmen, on a split 3-2 vote, approved a change in the month appointments are made to the Planning and Parks and Recreation commissions. They will be made by councilmen during the first meeting in May, instead of the second meeting in June.

Councilman Richard Laughter, who proposed the change, also asked that commission appointments be for four years instead of two, to provide "continuity" on the panels. Other councilmen rejected that plan, however.

Laughter originally wanted appointments "moved up" to April, to coincide with council elections, now held in March. Laughter, William Wentworth and Mayor Joe Dyer favored the change — to May — but councilmen Robert Lovemark and William Cotten opposed it.

Lovemark said commission members could be removed, and new ones selected at any time by councilmen, and ther was "no need" for a change. He and Cotten also objected to a $750 printing cost for a change in the city code, moving appointments up to May.

Councilmen have had occasional feuds with planning commissioners — and removed the entire panel after a fight about two years ago.

Strike news good, bad for Japanese

TOKYO (UPI) — Half of Japan's 6.5 million striking workers returned to their jobs today, but the nation's crippled economy received a new blow with the announcement that 130,000 merchant seamen would strike next Tuesday.

Spokesmen for the All Japan Seamen's Union said the walkout would idle 1,017 oceangoing ships in Japanese ports and foreign countries. The seamen are demanding wage increases of more than 40 per cent.

The nation's rail service, meanwhile, remained paralyzed.

Three children die as truck rams camper

SAUGUS (UPI) — A camper truck loaded with children on an Easter vacation outing was rammed from behind by a gravel truck Thursday, killing three of the youngsters and injuring eight others.

Authorities said the camper was stopped for a red light when the 78,000-pound truck crashed into it, shearing off the camper body containing the children.

The dead included Shawn Stringer, 4, whose mother, Mrs. Leona M. Stringer, 31, Saugus, was at the wheel of the camper. She suffered possible internal injuries.

The other two children killed were Catherine Flaherty, 11, and Lisa Westray, 10, both of Saugus. One of Lisa's sisters, Melissa Westray, suffered serious injuries, while a second, Laura Westray, was slightly hurt.

Mrs. Stringer's two other children, Sandy, 11; and Calvin, 7, were treated for minor injuries.

Truck driver Henry Battle, 45, Los Angeles, suffered serious head, back and leg injuries when his loaded gravel truck rammed the camper.

The impact shoved the camper into a busy Saugus intersection, triggering collisions with two other cars. One driver, Joan Cartwright, 35, was not hurt.

The other, Mrs. Ann Clough, 46, Saugus, was said to be in serious condition with a fractured pelvis and other injuries.

The woman's daughter, Diane Clough, 14, was treated for minor injuries.

Israel buries its 18 dead; vows revenge against Lebanon

By United Press International

The townspeople of the northern Israeli town of Qiryat Shemona buried their dead today in anger and in sorrow and with vows of revenge against Lebanon for harboring the three Arab guerrillas who massacred 18 persons Thursday.

In Beirut, Lebanese Premier Takieddin Solh met with envoys of the five major world powers to try to prevent any attempt by the Israeli army to strike into Lebanon against Palestinian guerrilla bases.

An Israeli punitive attack appeared probable. Caretaker Prime Minister Golda Meir said in a solemn statement Thursday: "The Lebanese government must know that we regard it and its citizens who are aiding the terrorists responsible for the massacre."

Despite the angry Israeli reaction to the attack a spokesman for the maverick guerrilla organization promised today in Beirut there would be more such attacks in the future to keep alive the struggle for the liberation of Palestine.

There were these other major Middle East developments today:

—Israeli and Syrian artillery and tanks exchanged fire on the Golan Heights for the 32nd consecutive day after Syrian troops tried to advance up Israeli-held Mount Hermon. An Israeli spokesman said two soldiers were wounded.

—Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger was focusing on the Mideast with a morning meeting in Washington with Egyptian Foreign Minister Fahmi and an afternoon session with a Syrian delegation in Washington to discuss troop disengagement with Israel. He also was meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Adrei A. Gromyko.

—In Moscow, Soviet leaders wound up their talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad and both sides condemned "Israel's ruling circles and the external forces backing it." The Assad trip had been expected to last for three days and there was no explantion of its early windup.

A crowd of perhaps 20,000 persons, some wailing in sorrow and some shouting in anger, attended the funeral services for 16 of the victims in the upper Galilee town of Qiryat Shemona and heard Police Mnister Shlomo Hillel, representing the government, promise revenge.

An Israeli soldier and a border patrolman also killed in the attack in which the threeman guerrilla suicide squad was blown up by its own explosives, were buried in their hometowns of Ramat Hasharon and Tarshiha.

"Our hand will reach them whereever they are," Hillel said. "We won't lay down our swords until everyone is brought to justice." Then, addressing himself to the leaders of Lebanon, he said:

"Government of Lebanon, the blood is on your head if you don't clear out the nests of terror from your territory. Beware, we have warned you."

As the plain pine coffins were lowered into the ground, one relative of the town's victims tried to break through police lines to reach the gravesites. During the scuffle his left eye was bloodied.

Just before the funeral, a crowd of about 100 residents gathered in front of the town council building chanting and shouting for vengeance against the Arabs.

"Your demands are just, all just," Israeli Chief Rabbi Shlomo Goren told the crowd. "But we have no alternative. We must live in this land and sometimes we must die in it."

PSH worker dies in fall

POMONA — A workman at Pacific State Hospital died Thursday afternoon in Pomona Valley Community Hospital after falling from a scaffold at work.

The victim was Frank P. Cronkovich, 58, of Temple City.

Police reported that he fell from the scaffold at about 10 a.m., was taken to the hospital and died in intensive care shortly after 4 p.m. The victim appeared to have a neck injury, officers reported, but an autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of his death.

POMONA YOUTH FACING CHARGES IN CRASH DEATH

YUCAIPA — A Pomona youth faces charges of felony manslaughter and felony drunk driving as the result of an accident in which another Pomona youth was killed.

Robert White, 17, 1163 Bonnie Brae St., Pomona, was arrested by California Highway Patrol officers after the pickup truck he was driving overturned, ejecting his passenger Wednesday.

The passenger, Joe Angel Valenzuela, 19, 405 E. Monterey Ave., Pomona, died in Redlands Community Hospital an hour after the accident. White was taken to the hospital for treatment of minor injuries and released.

Another passenger in the vehicle, Donald Lee McCallister, 17, 1168 N. Claremont Place, Pomona, was treated at the hospital for lacerations and abrasions and released.

The accident occurred on Interstate 10, one-quarter mile east of the Live Oak overcrossing. White's case was expected to go to junvenile authorities.

Suspect leaves prison to face store slaying case here

POMONA — A former student at the Claremont Colleges has been returned from a Connecticut prison to face a murder charge in the death of a department store security guard here two years ago.

The suspect, Edward McZeal, 26, of Compton, was returned by Pomona Police Department detectives Douglas Foland and Jerry Western. McZeal faces preliminary hearing Tuesday in Pomona Municipal Court.

Officers said McZeal had filed a demand for trial, in connection with the local charges, while being held in Connecticut. They pointed out that persons are entitled to speedy trials even if being held by other jurisdictions. McZeal subsequently was extradited and returned.

The suspect was arrested in October of 1972 in Connecticut on charges of kidnaping, robbery and assault on a police officer and eventually was sentenced to prison, investigators said.

At the time of his arrest in the East, McZeal was sought here on a murder warrant issued after the death of Walter Wahlen, 59, a security guard at Zody's, 1444 E. Holt Ave. The warrant was signed by Norman L. Vroman, then a Pomona Municipal Court judge.

Wahlen died in Pomona Valley Community Hospital almost a month after McZeal allegedly knocked him down June 9, 1972, when Wahlen attempted to stop McZeal as a theft suspect at Zody's. An off-duty policeman stopped McZeal on the parking lot and held him.

Wahlen was admitted to the hospital that day, seemed to improve and subsequently was released. About a month later his condition worsened, he was returned to the hospital but died. An autopsy showed that he died as the result of a head injury.

Meanswhile, McZeal had been released from custody and had gone East.

Cyclist hurt in collision

POMONA — A young boy was injured seriously late Thursday afternoon when his bike and a car collided in an alley in the 1500 block of N. Garey Avenue.

Kenny Clare, 7, of 1796 Buchanan Drive, suffered head, chest and leg injuries and was admitted for treatment at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

The driver of the car was Paul A. Summerfield, 48, Covina. He told police he was southbound in the alley when the accident occurred.

Youth suffers gash at fountain

POMONA — Six-year-old Masuel Armenta, 791 S. Park Ave., gashed his forehead early Thursday afternoon while playing in a fountain at the Civic Center Plaza. The child was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital where he was released after treatment.

VALLEY BRIEFS

2 valley drivers injured in crash

CHINO — Two motorists were injured Thursday night when a car and pickup collided on Pipe Line Avenue and Phillips Boulevard.

They are Rodger Lee Porte, 19, of 820 S. Oaks St., Ontario, and William Nielsen, 38, of 4030 Locust St., Chino.

Both were taken to Doctors Hospital in Montclair and admitted to the intensive care unit. Nielsen's condition is "stable" and Porte's satisfactory.

Porte was driving his car west on Phillips when he collided with Nielsen, who was driving his pickup south on Pipe Line, said highway patrolmen.

Ontarian booked in burglary case

ONTARIO — A 25-year-old Ontario man was arrested by police earlier this morning after he allegedly broke into a closed bar at 108 W. Main St. and took a small amount of money from a cash register.

Jerry L. Kemp of 223 S. Cucamonga Ave. was booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of burglary after an Ontario police officer saw him running away from Deppes Bar about 2:20 a.m.

An informant at the bus depot had called police to report a burglary in progress.

Assault charge filed in feud

POMONA — Robert Phillip Steele, 18, 1082 Vassar St., was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon Thursday night, accused of firing a shot over the head of Marcus C. Burks, 19, 2411 Valhalla St., in the 1000 block of Vassar St. Police said the problem arose as the result of a traffic encounter the two had earlier. Steele, who was not armed at the time of his arrest, denied the charges.

2 valley police chiefs to attend L.A. ceremonial

Police chiefs of Claremont and La Verne will attend an annual dinner sponsored by the Peace Officers Shrine Club in Los Angeles Monday.

The gathering, at the Los Angeles Police Department Academy, is to honor various police chiefs of Los Angeles County. Pomona Chief Forest P. Wallick will be unable to attend because of a meeting with Pomona city officials that night.

Chief Charles Lines of Claremont and Chief Jack Baker of La Verne will be among about 25 other county chiefs honored.

CIM studies suspect in slaying case

LOS ANGELES — A 17-year-old youth who admitted taking part in the beating death of the son of a county deputy sheriff was sent to the California Institution for Men Reception Center in Chino Thursday for a 90-day diagnostic examination.

The youth, Rudy Aguilar, faces a possible sentence of five years to life when he returns to Superior Court July 11 for sentencing on his guilty plea in the death of Patrick Shaughnessy, 13.

Young Shaughnessy, the son of Sgt. John Shaughnessy, was beaten to death last Aug. 15.

Another defendant, Felix Juarez, 16, pleaded guilty earlier this month and is undergoing diagnostic tests at Chino. He is scheduled for sentencing July 1.

A third defendant, Benjamin Perez, 17, is scheduled to be tried May 20.

Remember the first Easter Sunrise Service you attended? Try to recall the awe, the wonder, the joy. All the special feelings that you felt as you tried to understand the meaning of the early morning, the people, the prayers, the music. The Resurrection. And the love and security you felt with your parents so close. Shouldn't you pass that gift along to your children? Keep your own traditions alive?

For "children" old and young, Easter Sunrise Services begin this year at 6:15 a.m. with organ music and the traditional flight of white doves.

Dr. Ted Cole, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pomona, will deliver the Easter message. Music will be provided by opera star soprano Delphine Fahringer and the Azusa Pacific College Concert Choir, directed by Dr. Earle Anderson.

Services will be co-sponsored by the Pomona Ministerial Association, The Covina Ministerial Association, and the Covina Chamber of Commerce.

House salutes Canada leader

OTTAWA (UPI) — Opposition leader Robert Stanfield was given a round of tongue-in-cheek testimonials from his political opponents in the House of Commons on his 60th birthday Thursday.

He responded in kind, saying, "I realize it would be difficult for anybody, judging from my physical vigor and the rapidity of my speech in English and my eloquence in French, to realize that I have reached the sixth decade." Several members were quick to point out the decade reached was his seventh not his sixth.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau opened the impromptu ceremony with the traditional wish of "a very happy birthday."

Jackson dinner rally is slated

POMONA — "A Political Extravaganza" will be sponsored by the Committee to Elect Carl Jackson on Saturday from 2 to 6 p.m. at campaign headquarters, 1225 W. Mission Blvd.

The campaign committee has planned a menu of barbecue ribs, potato salad, baked beans, other foods and wine, plus Easter eggs for children, to be served free to visitors from 2 to 3 p.m.

The general public is invited to dine, hear free entertainment and meet Jackson, City Council candidate.

Six merchants fined over tapes

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A half dozen downtown merchants were fined and put on a year's probation Thursday for admittedly selling unauthorized Latin American stereo tapes.

The defendants, Paul Pinhas, Morris Bernato, Abraham Bernato, Charles Zagha, Neal Miller and Gideon Hasson, each had to pay $250 fines.

Five other merchants were scheduled to be arraigned April 22 for selling similar "pirated" recording tapes.

Obituaries

Symon Vander Leest

MIRA LOMA — Symon Vander Leest of Mira Loma died Tuesday in the Corona Community Hospital.

He was born April 19, 1908, in Holland and had resided in Mira Loma for the past eight years.

Survivors include his widow, Anna; three sons, John of Mira Loma, Dewey of Chino and Case of Michigan; a daughter, Mrs. Edith Sytsma of Ontario; a brother, Geert of the Netherlands; three sisters, Mrs. Adje Bruimsma and Mrs. Hinke Belksma, both of The Netherlands, and Mrs. Grace Dejong of Chino; and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Chino First Christian Reformed Church. The Rev. Louis Dykstra, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the Crestlawn Memorial Park, Riverside. The Crestlawn Mortuary, Riverside, has charge of arrangements.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the Inland Christian Home.

Leader in Claremont civic affairs dies

CLAREMONT — Lt. Col. John C. Williams, (USA Ret.), died Wednesday at Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Fontana, after a short illness.

Col. Williams was born Dec. 16, 1913, at Brewton, Ala. His family moved to Omaha, Neb. where he attended school and was graduated from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

He did graduate work at UC Berkeley.

He came to California in 1939 and lived at San Francisco before moving to Los Angeles in 1958. He moved to Claremont in 1964.

Col. Williams was a past president of the Claremont Coordinating Council and of the Claremont Intercultural Council and assistant manager of the California Human Resources and Development Center at San Bernardino.

He was an instructor in ethnic relations and social class work for the adult education program at Chaffey College. He established a pre-school nursery in the Claremont Barrio.

He served on the city traffic safety committee, worked as a volunteer at the Claremont Children's Center and assisted at the teen post in the Arbol Verde area.

Col. Williams was active in scouting and served on the Eagle board of review for the Old Baldy Council, Boy Scouts of America. He was a member of St. Ambrose Episcopal Church, Claremont; Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity; and Mt. Baldy Chapter, Retired Officers Association.

Besides his widow, Mardri, he is survived by two daughters, Julie and Felecia, and a son, John C., all of the home address; a sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Elliott of Los Angeles; and several nieces and nephews.

Requiem Eucharist will be celebrated Monday at 10 a.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, Los Angeles. The Rev. Canon E. Lawrence Carter, Rev. John C. Keester and Rev. James Corbett will officiate.

Burial will be at the U.S. Veterans Cemetery, Sawtelle.

Visitation will be held at Todd Memorial Chapel Claremont Sunday between 7:30 and 9 p.m.

Friends may contribute to a scholarship fund in Col. Williams' name at the Claremont Colleges.

Mazda engine no economy in using fuel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The rotary engine Mazda, which came out of earlier government tests looking like a gas hog, has emerged from a new test looking a little better, but still no fuel economy bargain, according to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

In general, the agency said Thursday, the Japanese import requires about 50 per cent more gasoline to travel a given distance on the highway or in town than do piston-powered cars weighing about the same.

But the EPA added that the Mazda was a "hot car to drive" and "ahead of its time in meeting clean air rules."

The first government test, released last fall, was based on urban-suburban driving conditions. Mazda had sought the second test, involving highway use, because it said the car did significantly better than others on the open road compared to city use.

Mazda said the new study proves what it has been saying all along —that Mazda drivers can expect to average 17 to 18 miles per gallon in all-around driving use.

In any case, the new figures give Mazda something better to talk about than the previous study, in which two Mazda coupes and one station wagon got only 10.6, 10.7 and 10.8 miles per gallon respectively. In the new test' in which perfectly tuned cars were used, two Mazda models got 13.4 and 13.3 m.p.g. under city driving conditions. On the highway test they got 21.2 and 19.0 m.p.g.

The EPA also tested a Saab in the same 2,750 pound weight class and got 21 m.p.g. in the city test and 30.6 in the highway version.

Eric C. Stork, a deputy assistant EPA administrator, told a briefing that "for its weight, Mazda's fuel economy does not compare favorably with other vehicles."

Clarence D. Bates

POMONA — Clarence D. Bates, a Pomona resident from 1928 until six months ago when he moved to Yucaipa, died Wednesday evening in a Yucaipa convalescent hospital.

Mr. Bates was born May 3, 1895, in Columbus, Ill. He moved to Pomona 46 years ago from Camp Point, Ill. He was a member of the First Christian Church, a 50-year member of Benjamin Masonic Lodge 297 in Camp Point, and a member of Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 398.

Last December the local presented Mr. Bates his 50-year pin. Ceremonies were held at the Hillhaven Convalescent Home in Claremont. Mr. Bates began his career in Quincy, Ill. He worked for many years with Ray Sanders Plumbing of Pomona. During his career, he worked on nearly all the buildings at the Claremont Colleges.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary last August.

Surviving are his widow, Gladys M.; two brothers, Paul of Vallejo and Gene of Pomona; and three sisters, Mrs. Neva Ford of Pomona and Miss Mary Bates and Mrs. Madge Dodson, both of Camp Point.

Services will be held Monday at 11:30 a.m. at the Pomona Mausoleum. William H. Workman of Pomona Masonic Lodge 246 will conduct the Masonic ritual.

Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Reinecke wants trial held before election

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke, who has pleaded innocent to perjury charges, was optimistic today that his trial would be held before the June 4 gubernatorial primary election.

At his arraignment Wednesday in Washington, the Republican ca didate for governor pleaded "absolutely not guilty" to three counts of lying to a Senate committee. Reinecke also asked that his trial be completed before the primary election.

Upon returning to Sacramento Wednesday night, the lieutenant governor told a brief airport news conference "I think the chances are good" that the trial would be held prior to the June primary.

"The judge recognized the need," stated Reinecke' noting that U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker—although setting a tentative trial date for June 19—said he would "reconsider" his court calendar in view of Reinecke's request for an early trial date.

Both Reinecke's lawyer and Watergate prosecutors said they could be ready for trial by May 20.

Reinecke also said he has not ruled out the possibility that Parker will grant his request to move the trial from Washington, D.C., to California. Parker took that request under consideration and said he would rule on it later.

Reinecke told Sacramento newsmen "it obviously is something less than a fair trial if I am tried by Washington people instead of being tried by California people."

He said he should be tried by California citizens because of the gubernatorial election. "The votes of the people are in California not in Washington," he added.

Reinecke was indicted on perjury charges for his testimony before the Senate Judiciary Committtee about an offer by International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. (ITT) to help finance the 1972 Republican convention then scheduled for San Diego.

ITT'S offer of $400,000 to underwrite convention expenses reportedly was made when the conglomerate was seeking Justice Department settlement of a antitrust case.

The indictment charged Reinecke, testifying at confirmation hearings of former Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst, lied about when he first knew of the ITT offer and about his discussions of the offer with then Attorney General John H. Mitchell.

Reinecke's lawyer, F. Joseph Donahue, asked Parker for an earlier trial date so "his innocence may be established before the primary."

Asked by Washington reporters if he thought the indictment was politically motivated. Reinecke observed that it came "very close" to the primary following an investigation of more than two years.

He said the case was bound to benefit three prominent Democrats — Rep. Jerome Waldie of California, also running for governor, and Sens. John Tunney of California and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

"Circumstantially this action here is for their benefit," he said, noting that Tunney is up for re-election in 1975 and it was "reasonable to say" Kennedy will run for president the same year.

He said Californians were "pretty indignant" about his indictment.

"The people of California know me well enough to know this is a sham," Reinecke said.

Rattles & straws

Honesty is a policy

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

"Enter Maggie with her throat cut."

In my list of Favorite Stage Directions, this charming phrase from Barrie's "What Every Woman Knows" stands at the top with Shakespeare's classic "Exit, pursued by a bear." ("The Winter's Tale.")

Enter Maggie, who is not good looking. When this is said, all is said. How many times is your own throat cut behind your back? The thesis today, if you're still awake, is that we SHOULD talk behind people's backs, and not say rude, honest things to their faces. Nothing would be more sweepingly disastrous to modern society than for everyone to start speaking the truth about each other.

Terrible to contemplate, isn't it? I mean—truth! Truth. One of the great Christian virtues. Faith, Hope and Truth (that's can't be right). But you get the idea, don't you, you heathen?

One simple doesn't dast tell the naked, killing truth, dast one? Try it anywhere in the world today—and duck.

At home: "Honey, your new hairdo looks like a haystack after a long winter." (Honest—but politic? Where are you going to sleep tonight?)

At the office: "Sir I realize you're the boss, but your idea stinks. It will have us in bankruptcy inside a year." (Good luck at the employment office).

Out with the boys: "Eddie, you're a good guy, but if you are a bowler, a saxophone is a musical instrument. Why don't you take up golf?" (Then duck.)

How much more pleasant, how much more genteel-like—how much SAFER—to say these things (a) to yourself, or (b) to trusted cornies at a judicious distance from the subject.

People speak of "refreshing frankness." Frankness is not refreshing; it is insulting—and a good way to get a richly deserved poke in the snoot.

Politeness, consideration for the feelings of others, is not only a cushion for a bruised ego, it is a life preserver for social intercourse, a suit of armor which, although it rings falsely, serves its purpose.

So let's all remember the Golden Rule: Never say to a person's face what you can say behind his back.

This is how to win friends and influence people, the way to make sales and hold you job, the way to keep your wife from going home to her mother. Hm . . . ?

Enter Maggie. If you've talked her over before she arrived, drop the subject. Talk about someone who hasn't arrived yet.

But if you insist on being honest to people's faces, you may very well exit pursued by a bear. Or Maggie.

Search off for missing in ship blast

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Coast Guard has suspended its search for 11 persons still missing in the Delaware River, following fiery explosions aboard a Greek oil tanker.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the search was suspended "pending further developments." The spokesman said during the "oil pollution cleanup" Coast Guard personnel will keep a "lookout for casualties."

Desta Gebrehedhin, an Ethopian crewman, was killed when two blasts tore through the mid-section of the 31,000-ton tanker Elias as it pumped off its cargo of Venezuelan crude oil at the Atlantic Richfield Co.'s Fort Mifflin Marine Terminal.

Thirteen persons, including a woman crew member and a pier guard, were injured and remain hospitalized. The missing included seven crewmen and a 50-year-old Baltimore woman and her three teenage daughters, who were visiting the captain aboard ship.

A Philadelphia fire department spokesman said 12 of the 33 crew members were on shore leave when the explosion occurred Tuesday night.

The Coast Guard continued its investigation into the cause of the explosions and estimated that about 1,000 gallons of crude oil washed up on the river shore line. The pollution stretches from Mantua Creek to Woodbury, N.J.

The explosions left the middle of the 650-foot long tanker resting 40 feet below water on the river bed with the bow and stern jutting out of the water.

Fuel crisis blamed

Crowds, profits down at both Disneylands

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The national fuel shortage was blamed for cutting attendance at the two Disneylands in California and Florida and causing a $15 million drop in park profits over a six-month period.

"Disneyland attendance in Anaheim was 2.8 per cent below the previous year," a Disney Production spokesman said recently.

He said that "public uncertainties" over the gasoline shortage caused an even greater drop—11.7 per cent—in attendance at the newer Disney amusement park in Orlando, Fla.

Revenues at the end of the six-month period ending in March totaled $156 million, down from $171 million during a similar winter-spring period in 1973. Net income for the 1974 period was $9.2 million, compared with $10.4 million the previous year.

For Saturday April 13

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A situation will arise today requiring a snap decision. Your answer will be as good as if you had lots of time to work it out.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Good ideas are only valuable if you put them into action. Bear that in mind when you sit on a thought you should be implementing.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You will have an unexpectedly profitable and interesting opportunity. It will be something you can get through a friend at a savings

CANCER (June 21-July 22) An answer you're looking for regarding a decision you have to make shortly will come from an impromptu family discussion. Talk it over.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll be restless today. It's best you don't lock yourself into plans too far in advance. Just let things happen.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may not be too excited about an invitation, but be sure to go. You will make a valuable contact at this affair.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This would be a good day to invite that couple you've been wanting to know better to your home. Chances are their schedule is open.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're going to be the recipient of some very unusual information You won't appreciate its full worth till later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone is about to do you a favor though neither of you will realize it at the time. Through a unique chain of events, profit will result.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something good is developing where your work or career is concerned. You'll learn of it unexpectedly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Give your insights serious attention today, particularly if they're trying to clue you in one someone you've recently met.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This is a good time to make some changes around the house you've been considering. Do it while you're in the mood.

Your birthday April 13

Advancement in an area that has been slow in developing will happen quite unexpectedly this year An improvement in status is also likely for you.

The doctor comments

Universities have good cancer centers

By Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR LAMB — Could you, in your column, name some of the top cancer clinics in the United States. Which ones are doing the most progressive work in dissolving tumors or causing regression?

Also, why are doctors so reluctant to discuss diet with cancer sufferers? I realize the complications because of the many types and locations, and yet I feel food is so important to health. Many days of misery and precious pounds lost are the price we pay for a poor choice when left to our own trial and error method. It seems to me that every aspect of an ill body should be treated with equal importance.

DEAR READER — As a generalization, any of the many outstanding university medical centers are up-to-date in knowledge of treatment of cancer. Some have more and better equipment than others, depending in part on how generous the state and federal goverments have been in providing sufficient funds

Two of the major centers for cancer problems are the M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston and the Sloan Kettering Institute in New York.

I'll have to agree about the problems of diet. It seems to get lost in many medical situations unless it has a direct bearing on the illness, as in diabetes. I'm sorry not to be able to give you a blanket rule, because, as you have stated, it is quite different for different problems. It makes a lot of difference whether it is cancer of the prostate, or cancer of the liver, or of the stomach.

I'll go even further and say food is not only important in all forms of illness, but just as important in those apparently well so that they will have a better chance to stay that way.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am diabetic, taking daily insulin. What is your medical opinion on dietetic foods such as cookies and candies, jello, etc. prepared for sugar restricted diets? I have heard different theories and would like to hear what you have to say.

DEAR READER — For many diabetics they are great. Of course, you know the one rule you must fellow is to stay on a fairly consistent diet when you are taking insulin You can't take a few calories one day and a lot of calories the next day.

It does make some difference what the special dietetic foods contain. Some cookies, for example are high in fats, and some even in saturated fats. In recent years the thinking has shifted to limit the amount of fat, and particularly saturated fat, in the diets of diabetics. The reason is to try to prevent heart and vascular disease This problem is fairly common as a complication of diabetes.

Also flour and starch are converted in the digestive tract to glucose sugar. So for some diabetics the starch-type foods might need to be limited. I see their one big advantage as a way to provide some goodies for people with a sweet tooth who would otherwise not be able to use any at all. Many of these products are also useful for anyone who needs to restrict his calories and still wants to satisfy his sweet tooth now and then. The low fat salad dressings are also a help.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of the Progress-Bulletin, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019 For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on low blood sugar, send 50 cents to the same address and ask for "Blood Sugar" booklet.

Unknown quanity

Arabs represented an unknown quantity in mathematics by the word "Shei", meaning "thing". Spanish mathematicians adopted it and write "xei" which was shortened to "X", the designation used today. The x-ray was so named by its discoverer Roentgen because he did not know its composition.

Douglas warns students of electronic surveillance

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) — U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas told a group of college students Wednesday that electronic surveillance "has spread like wildfire."

"So watch your step, my young friends," he said.

He spoke to 1,300 students in a program sponsored by the Seattle Central Community College. Douglas allowed newsmen to cover his speech, but he did not permit television camera lights to be turned on.

The 75-year-old jurist from Washington State began his speech by reciting "an old story about how to cook a frog."

Douglas said that, if a frog is placed inside a kettle filled with hot water, the frog will jump out immediately.

"But put him in a cool pot and then gradually raise the temperature and he relaxes and eventually is cooked," he said.

SURE WINNER? — Mrs. Diane Rider, a registered nurse and lobbyist for the Colorado Nurses Association, has announced she will seek the Republican nomination for the Colorado House of Representatives from District 20 (Colorado Springs). Mrs. Rider was Miss Colorado in 1971.

War frightens Easter pilgrims from Holy Land

JERUSALEM (UPI) — An elderly woman in a long black coat and a white kerchief binding her hair knelt and withrew a small blue and white cloth from a plastic bag. She rubbed it ever so gently on the stone of anointment inside the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Christian tradition marks the Stone of Unction as the site where Jesus Christ received his anointment after his crucifixion.

In the hushed silence of the church, and for the devout woman, it was as if the guns of October never had sounded for the fourth Middle East war in 25 years. For this woman and some like her, the green-bereted Israeli border policemen with their black Uzi submachineguns in the street outside might as well be patrolling on another planet.

"It's only those on the outside who are afraid," said Father Barrett Yeretzian, chief of protocol of the Armenian Church in the holy city.

But it appears that only the brave have made the Easter pilgrimmage to Jerusalem and its holy sites this year. Tourism is down sharply in the aftermath of the 18-day, 1973 Yom Kippur War, and the ongoing daily bombardments on the Golan Heights front that some think could spark renewed war.

"The mood is very good here," the clergyman said. His neatly trimmed black beard contrasted sharply with his white frock. "Whoever has come here has no fear."

Some think the mood and turnout could be better.

"Last year we had 9,000 pilgrims from Greece and Cyprus for Easter," said a black-haired store owner who depends on the Christmas and Easter trades for much of his souvenir sales.

"But this year the number is down to 2,000 or 3,000," he said.

His shop is on the Via Dolorosa, a narrow street running from what had been the Roman praetorium, where Jesus Christ was sentenced to crucifixion, to the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

Along the route are eight stations marking the spots where Jesus is said to have been tormented. "And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him" (Luke 23: 27).

The odor of incense and strong, black Arabic coffee is heavy all along the route where Israelis and Christian tourists, cameras swung over their shoulders, haggle with Arab merchants.

Dr. G. Kenneth Shafer and his wife, of Cleveland, Ohio, decided to make the journey despite war tensions. He is a retired Presbyterian minister.

"We're just here for the joy of being with our family and participating in the Easter season," he said.

Hearsts prepare for ordeal ahead

LA PAZ, Mexico (UPI) — The family of kidnaped Patricia Hearst sought sun, rest and privacy on Mexico's beaches today to "prepare for the ordeal ahead of us'"

Randolph Hearst and his wife, Catherine, were resting at the Las Cruces resort on Mexico's Gulf of California coast 25 miles south of La Paz and waiting for word on the fate of their missing 20-year-old daughter.

The Las Cruces resort complex has a motel and approximately 15 colonial-style homes owned mostly by wealthy Americans, including entertainers Desi Arnaz and Bing Crosby. Most guests arrive at the isolated resort in private planes.

Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, has asked newsmen to keep from following him in Mexico. "We are here for a vacation to prepare for the ordeal ahead of us," he said.

He complained about news coverage of the kidnaping, saying leftist groups had taken advantage of the press. "This has been one of the biggest ripoffs the press has ever gone through," he said.

He spoke favorably about the American Indian Movement (AIM), but denied press reports he would go to Minneapolis Friday to meet with Dennis Banks, the group's volatile leader.

"I'm not sure what that is all about," he said. "But I do think AIM seems to be genuine. It is one of the few minority groups that really has something to say. I don't believe they are involved in this (the kidnaping) and they did not jump onto the publicity bandwagon."

The Hearsts said they "hope to see Patty again," but cautioned, "We are afraid we can't rely on the honor of people like this."

Admiral wins on sub attack

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The Admiral looked over the dummy and counted 11 winners. The 12 would come if hearts broke or if a squeeze could be developed.

He played the four of spades from dummy and East discarded a diamond. West had all seven spades, so it was most unlikely that hearts would break. It was up to the Admiral to prepare for a squeeze.

Opening lead—♠Q

There was no reason not to reconnoiter with the club suit so the Admiral ran off the four club tricks while discarding one of dummy's diamonds. West followed to three clubs. The intelligence operation had accounted for 10 of West's cards.

Two rounds of hearts come next. West followed to one so that he was marked with exactly two diamonds. This meat that East had started with five hearts and five diamonds. How could he be squeezed?

The Admiral worked it out quickly. A submarine attack was in order and he promptly led a low spade and ducked in dummy.

West won and led a spade back. East had already discarded twice on spades and once on clubs. A fourth discard would give the Admiral three diamond tricks or four heart tricks and East had to surrender to overwhelming naval forces.

Commissioner resigns over pot charges

OCEANSIDE (UPI) — Philip L. Soto, a member of the Oceanside Mayor's Youth Advisory Commission, announced Tuesday he was quitting the commission in the wake of the disclosure last week that he had pleaded guilty to felony possession of marijuana Feb. 25.

Mayor Howard Richardson had asked for Soto's resignation after it was learned that the 28-year-old commissioner had agreed to the guilty plea in exchange for dismissal of three other charges against him.

Soto was placed on five years probation by Superior Court Judge Earl H. Maas Jr. Soto, who is also chairman of the associated students at Mira Costa Community College, was nominated to the 10-member commission last January by college President John McDonald.

No money to pay bill, no phone, now no boyfriend

My boy friend and I were intending to get married.

While we were seeing each other, he made collect calls to me. Before I accepted them, he told me not to worry, that he would pay me at the end of the month.

The bill came to a great amount. I told my boy friend I needed the money to pay it. He kept saying he had the money and would pay the bill. He kept me going for weeks.

Then my telephone got disconnected.

I notified someone in charge of him. That person told me that my ex-boy friend said he would send the money when he got paid.

Two days later my ex-boy friend called me and said he had never intended to pay the phone bill.

I am unable to get in touch with anybody to help me.—M. O., Pomona.

Legally you are responsible as you accepted the collect calls.

We wrote to you offering to try to impress your former fiance with his moral responsibility to at least share the expense but you didn't answer our letter.

Your case is not unique. Often the offender is an unknowing or uncaring teen-ager who runs up his parents' phone bill with long distance phone calls.

Your bill amounted to more than $500. That's a costly lesson to learn about someone you cared for but not as expensive as it would have been had you married him.

Can you help me get my money back from the Capitalist Reporter, Inc., in New York City?

I wrote to the company six months ago for three books listing $50-an-acre properties in three different areas.

Although I enclosed my check for $9.95, I still have not received the books.

A card came saying the order had been processed and I could expect delivery a month or six weeks after the order was placed.

When my books didn't arrive, I wrote asking for either the books or my money back. All I received was my letter back with refund written on it and a copy of a letter saying the guides would soon be in my hands.

I still have received nothing, money or guides—Mrs. G. A., Glendora.

After our first letter to the Capitalist Reporter, we received a form letter explaining that the company was operating with a small staff and, "to maximize efficiency" was issuing refund checks regularly every other week.

At the bottom was a notice that your refund was to be mailed to you.

A month later you still had not received it.

We wrote again and you finally got your refund, about seven weeks after our first letter.

About three months ago a San Gabriel Valley roofing company put a new roof on the house I rent.

While they were working on the roof, employes of the company broke the post my mailbox is on. Mailboxes for two other tenants are on the same post.

A man from the company was here a week or so later and I showed him the broken post. He said it would be fixed.

I have called several times and have been getting no results, just promises. — F. Y., Pomona

After we contacted the roofing company, a note was left at your house saying employes of the company would return.

They did and fixed your mailbox post.

Three in council contest face common foe: voter apathy

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Three persons face widespread voter apathy as a common enemy in their campaigns to capture the First Councilmanic District post on Tuesday's special city election.

Running for the seat, vacated last December with the resignation of Councilman R. T. French, are Mrs. Georgia Grove, a housewife; Thomas F. Hughes, a Realtor; and Carl E. Jackson, a General Dynamics administrator.

Because of the little public interest shown in the race, City Clerk Larry Thomas predicts only 20 per cent of the city's 32,043 registered voters will go to the polls.

The nomination papers of all three were challenged but even after questions surrounding their formal candidacies were removed and they hit the campaign trails harder, the election has not really caught on.

Few forums

Only the Lincoln School PTA and the Pomona Valley branch of the National Association of College Women have sponsored public forums to permit the candidates to discuss their platforms.

Because Jackson failed to show up at one, the public has been given only one opportunity to hear and judge the three at the same time.

A victory for either Hughes or Jackson would mean the election of the first black councilman in the city's history.

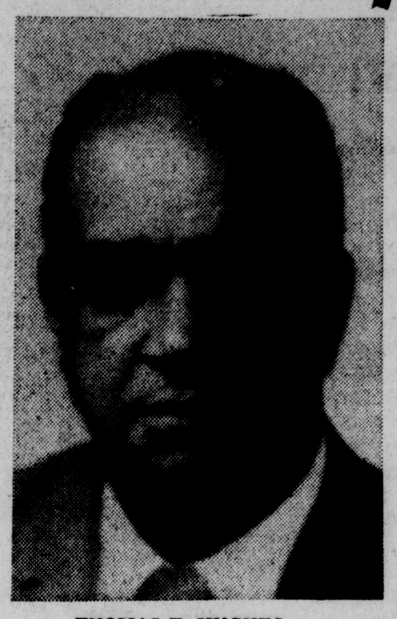
The election of Mrs. Grove would give her the distinction of being the second woman to serve on the City Council. Mrs. Elaine Hopkins represented the First District from 1961 to 1965, when she resigned and unsuccessfully ran for mayor.

The candidate receiving the highest number of votes Tuesday will win election.

Mrs. Grove, a red-haired, blue-eyed grandmother, says she is seeking her first elective public post at the urging of friends.

Since announcing her candidacy, she has attended council and school board meetings regularly and says she has been meeting with small groups of residents to hear what they have to say.

MRS. GEORGIA GROVE



THOMAS F. HUGHES

CARL E. JACKSON

Hughes, is a balding, heavy-set man of 61 with a ready smile. Early in the campaign he introduced residency requirements for city employes as an issue, something that is not likely to endear him to the three city employe associations.

He has been deeply interested in the efforts of a two-county organization working on the Pomona Valley's problem of abandoned housing, a situation he says, with which he is very familiar and concerned about.

Jackson at 36, is the youngest of the three. Six feet 3, bespectacled and sporting a moustache, he gives the appearance of a scholarly athlete.

His recurring campaign theme has been Pomona's "upward mobility." He appears to have done his homework well in learning about the workings of city government, especially regarding the city budget. His friendly demeanor can also be a ploy.

Jackson accuses his opponents of representing special interests, Hughes of the real estate people, and Mrs. Grove of the city's conservative Republicans, of "those same people who have controlled Pomona, are responsible for the downfall of Pomona. This group has a Watergate overtone to it."

Although the election by law is nonpartisan, Jackson makes a point of party affiliation. He claims Hughes is "spreading gossip" that the latter is the only Democrat running.

Jackson said he, too, is a Democrat and has been one all his life, except for about a month when he says he became a Republican and found out "it wasn't a people-oriented organization" and returned to the Democratic fold.

In city registration, Democrats outnumber Republicans 18,135 to 11,935. Four other categories account for the remaining 1,973 voters.

Mrs. Grove and Hughes largely ignored Jackson's allegations., but did respond to one that Mrs. Grove and Hughes lacked the proper qualifications needed for the office.

If Jackson is referring to his educational background, Mrs. Grove said, "the problem with the world today is there're too many educated people who don't know how to use that education."

"I don't think any one of us has any local experience in local government. I have been working with the abandoned house committee for the last nine to 10 months," said Hughes.

"I would question as to whether any one of us has any great deal of background in the local government or any other government. I have worked on a number of committees in the last 15 years."

Jackson, who holds degrees in public administration, was an unsuccessful candidate last year for the Mt. San Antonio College board of trustees. Hughes is seeking elective public office for the first time.

Hughes and Mrs. Grove favor residency requirements for new city employes but Hughes goes further by saying this should also apply to present city department heads, who would be given "ample opportunity" to move to Pomona, and failing in this, would be replaced.

Jackson says he doesn't care where city employes live as long as they do their jobs.

Hughes said he has not had a chance to examine the city's redevelopment program while Mrs. Grove and Jackson favor a proposal to separate the redevelopment agency from the council. All three say they have ideas on how to deal with abandoned housing, improve relations between the police and the public.

A recent news report erroneously gave the impression Mrs. Grove favored bulldozing some 800 abandoned houses in the city. She actually said she would like to see some 100 dwellings considered substandard razed and have the properties used for such things as playgrounds.

Mrs. Grove said police "have to have an incentive" but is unwilling to say what she has in mind.

Despite rising costs, she contends "there is a way" to keep city services at the present level without hitting taxpayers for more money, yet admits she is not that familiar with the budget.

Jackson said a review of the budget reveals that "the priorities are kind of twisted," citing as example the police and fire departments which he sees as being top-heavy with management-type positions disproportionate to the number of men in the field. He is emphatic about not being anti-police or anti-firemen.

Hughes said he believes his background in management, insurance, real estate and as a tax consultant provides him with qualifications desirable of a public official.

He pledged that if elected, he would meet with residents in the four councilmanic districts four times a month in addition to the regular council meetings.

Mrs. Grove said she doesn't pretend to know all the answers to the city's problems, is willing to give it a try, and believes a woman's viewpoint could be important on the council.

REV. DEAN SCHIELD

Local minister to direct choir in Easter rite

POMONA — The Rev. Dean Schield of the First Church of God will direct the performance of "Hallelujah" chorus of Handel's "Messiah" at the Forest Lawn Glendale Good Friday service at 8 tonight.

The event will be held in the Hall of the Crucificixion-Resurrection for the eighth consecutive year.

A full brass orchestra will accompany a 50-member choir in the selections scored by Mr. Schield, minister of youth and music at the Pomona church. The musicale is sponsored by the Southern California Association of the Churches of God and its 52 congregations in the region.

The worship service will be conducted by the Rev. Frederick Pinyoun of the First Church of God.

Claremont council approves of planning director choice

CLAREMONT — The City Council has ratified the appointment of Donald G. King, presently acting planning director of Minnetonka, Minn., as the city's new director of planning and community development.

City Manager Keith Mulrooney said that King will start May 1 at a salary of $17,200.

King will replace Mrs. Sharon Hightower who resigned Feb. 25 after 3½ years as planning director to accept the post of planning director of Rancho Palos Verdes.

King, 30, received a master's degree in architecture at UC Berkeley and has five years of professional planning experience.

Minnetonka is a rapidly growing suburb of Minneapolis and has a population of 40,000.

Mulrooney said that he feels King's strengths lie in architecture and urban design coupled with considerable experience with growth questions and citizen involvement.

He also is proficient in aerial photography.

Mulrooney reported that the city received applications from 50 persons throughout the nation. The list was trimmed to 10, one of whom was Terry Stambler, city associate planner, who has resigned her job to accept the post of planning section head for the city of Montebello.

Mulrooney noted that the oral board consisted of Mrs. Enid Douglass, planning commission chairman; Jim Norris, member and past chairman of the planning commission; Gordon Curtis, president of the Claremont Chamber of Commerce; George Blair, chairman of the Department of Government at Claremont Graduate School and former planning commissioner; Jerry Gonce, Pomona city administrator; and Michael Loehr, Montclair city planner.

Mulrooney said that King was the first choice of Mrs. Douglass, Norris, and Blair, "a trio sometimes noted for differing viewpoints on city planning."

Three offerings on film program for youngsters

CLAREMONT — A children's film program of "Ghosts and Ghoulies," "Merry-Go-Round Horse," and "The Magic Tree" will be shown by the Claremont Public Library Saturday at 11 a.m. at Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Indian Hill and Foothill boulevards.

"The Magic Tree" is an animated African folktale about an unloved boy who leaves home and finds a magic tree which changes his life.

The program will last about an hour, and is open without charge to the public, according to Mrs. Martha Ainsworth, children's librarian.

Chest X-ray unit operating in area

POMONA — The Mobile Chest Survey Lab will have an X-ray unit stationed near the Thriftymart store, 3200 N. Garey Ave. through Monday, with the exception of Sunday.

Hours of operation daily will be from 10 a.m to 6 p.m.

The fee of $3.75 per person includes radiology services, processing of tests and the mailing of results.

Preliminary assault hearing continued

POMONA — The preliminary hearing of felonious assault charges against a La Verne man has been continued in Pomona Municipal Court to April 30. The defendant, Larry L. Miller, 34, was ordered to remain in custody in lieu of $5,000 bail by Judge Robert C. Gustaveson. The victim, Mrs. Linda Miller, 34, was stabbed three times March 24. She was released Monday from Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Children at Sharkie Park to hunt eggs

POMONA — The annual Easter Egg Hunt at Sharkie Park will be held on Saturday starting at 10 a.m.

Children of all ages are invited to participate.

The annual event again is being sponsored by the neighborhood's Mexican-American residents.

Further information, including questins about possible donations, may be obtained by contacting Josie Reyes at 627-5904.

Christians will celebrate the Resurrection Sunday

Christians will celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ and his victory over the cross and death, at religious services Easter Sunday.

Clergymen at services throughout the Pomona Valley will recall the dark hours and the events that took place before the Easter dawning.

They will express to an Easter world of 1974, filled with worries over pollution to the environment, coruption in government, conflict in the Middle East, and racial and class tensions, that there is hope for the future because of Christ's resurrection and His promise that He would be with us always.

Easter is traditionally a happy day, with family gatherings and dinners, and candy and Easter bunny treats for the children.

Easter represents a new beginning. Many church congregations will welcome new members on Easter morning and will conduct baptismal services for new converts to the faith.

Easter sunrise services have been scheduled by many individual churches and four community sunrise services have been planned for Sunday in the Pomona Valley area.

More than 50 area churches will participate in Pomona Valley's fourth annual community Easter sunrise service at 6 a.m. on the Civic Center plaza between the Pomona Public Library and the Superior Courts building.

Dr. J. Richard Chase, president of Biola College, will be the speaker during the service and the Gomez Brothers will sing. Music will also be provided by a brass ensemble directed by Jerry Cleveland.

Dr. Richard Shook will speak on the topic, "Easter: An Interpretation for Living," at the Walnut Valley Ministerial Association's annual Easter sunrise service at The Country, Diamond Bar. The combined choirs of seven community churches will participate in the service.

Worshippers should arrive at the guard gate entrance to The Country by 5:40 a.m. and take blankets on which to sit during the service.

"How the Resurection Opens up Life" will be the Easter message theme of Dr. Edward B. Cole at the fifth annual Easter sunrise service at Forest Lawn Covina Hills at 6:15 a.m.

Dr. Cole is the pastor at Pomona First Baptist Chruch.

More than 4,00 worshippers are expected to attend he inter-community program sponsored by the Pomona Ministerial Association, Covina Chamber of Commerce and the Covina Ministerial Association.

The 15 annual Easter sunrise service sponsored by the Glendora Kiwanis Club will be held on the Hillside Campus of Azusa Pacific College at 7 a.m. Special music will be provided by a 45-voice choir fro m the Glendora Nazarene Church.

The Rev. Robert W. Hempy of the Arrow Highway Wesleyan Church in Covina will be the speaker at the community service. A fellowship and refreshment time will follow the program.

Easter sunrise services have also been scheduled as follows:

POMONA — The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Cordes, 4477 Briney Point Road, La Verne, will be the site for the 6:30 a.m. service of the First Lutheran Church. The young adults and Senior League of the church will be in charge of the service.

MONTCLAIR — A brief sunrise service will be held at 6 a.m. in the parking lot of the Montclair United Methodist Church. Scripture reading, hymns and meditation wil be included in the service.

"The Resurection of Jesus" will be the theme of the Rev. M. H. Saeger at the 6 a.m. service of Trinity Lutheran Church.

LA VERNE — Fellowship Church of the Brethren and the First Brethren Church will co-sponsor a sunrise service in Fischer's pasture at 6 a.m.

CLAREMONT — Claremont Presbyterian Church will hold its annual sunrise service at 7 a.m. on the chruch patio Breakfast will follow in Fellowship Hall.

ONTARIO — The Rev. Sebastian Lutaboire, a student at Claremont School of Theology, will speak at the 6:30 a.m. service of the Prince of Peace Lutheran Church. Mr. Lutahoire is from Tanzania.

SAN DIMAS — A 6 a.m. sunrise celebration at the Valley Community Drive-In Church will feature the church's Chancel Choir and Brass Ensemble and the 38-member youth chorale. The sanctuary will be decorated with hundreds of calla lilies.

MT. BALDY — The annual Mt. Baldy Village Church sunrise service will be held on the mountainside along Glendora Road above the village. The service will begin with a coffee hour at 7:30 a.m. The Rev. Richard Hammersla will conduct the service.

CHINO — Holy Communion will be celebrated at the Immanuel Lutheran Church sunrise service at 6 a.m. The Rev. Martin W. Keck will speak on the topic, "He Lives."

UPLAND — Members of First Baptist Chruch of Chino will attend the annual community sunrise service of the First Baptist Church of San Antonio Heights at 6:30 a.m. The Rev. A. Thomas Gibbony of the Chino church will issue the Proclamation of the Resurrection during the service.

Making government truly representative

It may come as a surprise to some Pomonans, but there's a citywide election next Tuesday to elect a person to serve on the city council from the first (northwest) district.

This is a special election in which one of three candidates, Georgia Grove, Thomas Hughes, and Carl Jackson, will be elected to the council to replace William (Buz) French who resigned last December. The winner will serve the remainder of French's term which expires a year from now.

The campaign to date has been modest and possibly, because of the lack of any major issues, next Tuesday's election will have a voter turnout of only about 20 per cent. Unfortunately, this is the pattern in many elections.

However, a special election is of no less importance than a regular election. Particularly at the local level where the individual voter can feel that his vote really counts. We cannot remind too strongly that every qualified Pomona voter owes it to himself and to his community to go the polls next Tuesday to make city government truly representative of the wishes of the people.

The Nixon taxes: Case not closed

It is not yet clear whether Rep. Wilbur Mills was guilty of overstatement when he predicted that President Nixon's tax troubles would be more damaging to him than Watergate.

In fact, the President's quick reaffirmation of his pledge to pay whatever back taxes the IRS decided he owed — some $476,000 including interest for the first four years of his presidency — and the absence of any finding of fraud on his part by the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation may be considered by many people to have concluded the episode. It may even have won some sympathy for the President.

But if one year of Watergate has not "been enough," the few days that have elapsed since the congressional committee made its report have hardly been enough time for the full import of the matter to sink into the public consciousness, especially as each day seems to bring some new revelation about the President's finances.

Again, Mr. Nixon has attempted to place himself on a lofty pinnacle above it all.

"Any errors which may have been made in the preparation of the President's returns," said a White House statement, "were made by those to whom he delegated the responsibility for preparing his returns and were made without his knowedge and without his approval."

This simply will not do.

We are to believe that Mr. Nixon raised no eyebrows when he was asked to sign a return on which hundreds of thousands of dollars had been deducted for the donation of his vice-presidential papers to the National Archives (a large portion of which is now revealed to have consisted of invitations and newspaper clippings), offsetting almost his total income in 1969—and this in a year when Congress was in the process of abolishing this provision in the tax laws?

We are to believe that the President did not go over his returns line by line and item by item, as certain of his advisors have said that he did?

We are to believe that he just happened to call all the close ones—the little ones as well as the big ones—in his own favor?

The huge tax bill the President must pay will "wipe him out," says the White House. The ordinary working stiff is supposed to feel sorry for the President when it has been shown that the money should never have been his in the first place?

The reasonable person may retain reasonable doubts about the President's involvement in Watergate. What can be said in defense of the shabby example he has set in meeting his tax obligations?

It is far more than a question of dollars and cents, of the validity or nonvalidity of this or that deduction, things about which honest men may honestly disagree.

It is the moral performance of the nation's first citizen, and not any technical finding of fraud that could be included in a bill of impeachment, that Wilbur Mills had in mind.

Assad might 'jump the tracks'

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger believes he can negotiate an agreement to separate Israeli and Syrian forces on the turbulent Golan Heights. But he has warned President Nixon of the danger that Syria's President Assad might "jump the tracks."

Kissinger's success in arranging a disenagement may determine whether American motorists will have to start lining up again for gas. For Arab leaders have warned that the oil embargo may be reimposed if a Syrian-Israel settlement falls through.

Kissinger laid the groundwork in Moscow for a settlement by promising to consult with the Soviets. Intelligence reports claim they tried to disrupt the negotiations by encouraging the Syrians to make impossible demands and to open fire on the Golan front.

The Soviets reportedly feared Kissinger was trying to squeeze them out of a Middle East settlement. They are particularly eager, according to inteiligence assessments, to retain their influence with Syria and Iraq, which will give them access to the oil-rich Persian Gulf.

During his Kremlin call, Kissinger sought to reassure the Soviets that they will have a voice in any final Middle East peace. He is expected to stop off in Geneva to consult with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko before beginning the next round of talks with the Syrians and Israelis.

Sources close to Kissinger tell us he has cautioned the President that the psychology of the negotiating process sometimes seems to take precedent over the merits of the arguments.

He has reported that President Assad is highly intelligent, with sharp sense of humor, but unpredictable. The Syrian leader is caught between factions, some of them extremist, according to Kissinger.

He is carefully informing the Egyptians, meanwhile, of every move he is making. He wants them to understand that he has done his best in case the Syrian negotiations break down. His strategy is to keep the peace on the Israeli-Egyptian front no matter what happens with Syria.

CHANGING TIMES: A confidential campaign document, which has been buried in President Nixon's files for more than two years, dramatizes how fortunes have changed.

Today, the President is pleading privately for invitations to campaign for Republican candidates, as evidence that he isn't political poison. But the memo shows that only two years ago he selected what Republicans he would favor with the haughtiness of a dowager queen choosing a ceremonial robe.

In the memo, campaign deputy director Jeb Magruder relayed a message from White House staff chief H.R. Haldeman to Attorney General John Mitchell.

"Haldeman indicated," wrote Magruder, "that the President will not do TV clips for Senators and House candidates, but will do simple written endorsements for these candidates."

As for hopeful GOP newcomers, the President took an even more high-and-mighty view. "The President," Magruder informed Mitchell, "is willing to have his picture taken with incumbent candidates but will not do them for new candidates for the Senate and the House."

FOOTNOTE: Many Republicans in Congress are still grumbling about the treatment they got from Nixon and his campaign committee in 1972. Some of them, ironically, may now sit in judgment on him if his impeachement comes before the House and Senate.

Indian Water: The Pueblo Indians have accused the Justice Department of "throwing" a case concerning Indian water rights in New Mexico. Our own sources at the Bureau of Indian Affairs agree.

The Justice Department is supposed to defend Pueblo rights to Rio Grande water against the state of New Mexico. The Pueblos, survivors of the oldest civilization on the continent, having used the Rio Grande waters for irrigation for centuries.

Over the years, the government and developers have slowly drained away their water rights for non-Indian projects. Their ancient civilization simply will dry up, they contend, if they lose this latest case.

The Pueblos, therefore, brought in a prestigious Albuquerque law firm to review the Justice Department's preparation of the case. In a confidential memo, the firm warned that "the government's case is not prepared for trial."

Furthermore, "if the preparations proceed without change," declared the law firm, "there is a serious possibility that the case will be lost."

FOOTNOTE: A Justice Department spokesman said they had seen the private review prepared by the Albuquerque lawyers. Justice will work with the private lawyers on the case and "will do the best we can," promised the spokesman.

OUR MAN IN WASHINGTON

Inflation permeates the economy

By RICK GOTCHER
P-B Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The nation could get along quite well, thank you, if the House Judiciary Committee today ceased pondering the impeachment question. Indeed, if that issue never came up again it would do little to change the country's status because it just is not that important in the overall scheme of things.

But if serious action is not taken on the efforts of a special joint Senate-House committee study of congressional budget reforms, national damage could well be irreparable.

Nothing is so troublesome as the rampant inflation that so totally permeates the economy. According to a report by one economist, the situation is to the point that if you received pay raises of 50 per cent within the past decade, inflation has actually caused you to lose money.

And nowhere is inflation more prone to occur than on Capitol Hill, where vote-conscious legislators slap-happily pass appropriation after appropriation—sublime in their constituent-minded philosophy that "one more program" won't hurt.

The national debt stands at some $450 billion. Each one of those dollars was approved by Congress and spent with legislative blessing. Each dollar is also one more item to feed inflation.

It is remarkable that over the years Congress could have allowed such scattershot methods prevail in determining the national budget. With nearly as many committees as there are legislators, it was inevitable no one would be able to correlate activities. As a result, good programs have been created that lap over into other areas; and bad ones maintain an existence simply because nobody takes the time to question their worth.

Ridding the taxpayer of a burdensome expense is often a risky venture.

When, last year, the White House installed Howard Phillips to head the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), with the explicit intent to demolish one the most noticable boondoggles of the "Great Society", the protests screamed from everywhere.

Demanding "welfare rights", congressional and activist leaders descended on Phillips and his work with fierce desperation. Perhaps they could see a possible end to the pipeline which ties into the Treasury and were reluctant to have the spigot closed.

Phillips lost his job on a technicality; but not before he had effectively destroyed OEO's ability to blunderbuss money into every facet of society. The man should be given a humanitarian award for the suffering he saved the American taxpayer.

Congress voted in the Great Society on the premise that if enough money is thrown at a problem, it will go away. Tons of the stuff were thrown, never to be seen again, and, in many cases, with no apparent remedies of various problems.

Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) spoke on the fallacy of Great Society philosophy this week—

"Down through history, the government which turned to the welfare state approach in their handling of mankind's needs and comforts created their own destruction."

Congress has too long handled the national pursestrings with ten thumbs. The fragile balance between inflation and economic collapse is too close for further clumsiness.

LETTERS FROM P-B READERS

Indispensable postal service

I would like to make a few comments regarding the rise in postage. Why do people feel it is so outrageous? The cost of gasoline has almost tripled just since last December. But that doesn't stop them from making two and three trips a day to the post office and supermarket.

And it doesn't stop them from going to the desert on the weekend. The cost of food has soared in the last year, but they pay it with only the usual gripes. The same gripes they had when milk was 20 cents a quart and pork chops 49 cents a pound. The rate of interest has also soared, but people still buy new homes, new cars and furniture without any thought to the interest they are paying.

I find it far cheaper to spend 10 cents for a stamp than 60 cents for a gallon of gasoline. If people gave any thought to this they would agree I'm sure.

Our postal system is doing a good job and deserves credit for it. The mail is moving faster now than it ever has but it costs money just as everything else does. People should ask themselves what the postal service does for them. Could I get along without it? And if you think you can get along without it, then do it. But I don't think you can. —Letter signed, but name withheld by request.

Gossip for today

A long time ago in the days of my tender youth, it was Horatio Alger who inspired young men to strive valiantly Onward and Upward From Rags to Riches. His formula for achieving success was simple and direct. The basic requirements were hard work, perseverance and honesty. Which just goes to show you how little Horatio Alger knew about getting ahead in this world. Today, as any student of the art of worldly achievement can tell you, the smart operator first steals something or commits some other crime that will land him in jail. Then, after serving his sentence, with plenty of time off for good behavior, he writes a book and lives happily ever after.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Demo prospects not so sweeping

WASHINGTON — The occasional giddy forecasts that Democrats might gain as many as 100 seats from the Republicans in the House this fall are being knocked down by cautious Democratic analysts as totally unrealistic.

They think there may be perhaps 100 "loose situations" offering them promise of gain, but believe they'll be having one great field day on Nov. 5 if they actually win 50 new seats or a few less.

Furthermore, party sources keeping in close touch with incumbent Democrats who are making the race again this year hear from many, again and again, one overriding worry.

It is a concern that, if they have had to vote on the issue of impeaching President Nixon for possible offenses associated with Watergate, they will be compelled to spend too much of their campaign time explaining their individual vote — no matter which way it has gone.

What they say they want to talk about is the President's handling of energy, the economy, health care, welfare and other matters they think he has bungled — issues they are convinced are uppermost in voters' minds.

If the campaign can be thus centered, they don't fret over having it labled a "Nixon referendum." But incumbents fear that an impeachment vote will plunge the country into a special mood which will veil, at least for a time, otherwise prime voter interests.

Polls, of course, continue to make things look bad for the Republicans, and so do random samplings of voter attitudes by newsmen and other observers. Nevertheless, as indicated, top Democratic specialists keep a cautious reserve.

It is not a new forecast, but they are holding to a prediction that party gains in the Senate may amount to no more than three or four seats. As earlier, state-by-state surveys have suggested, factional fights and the difficulty of finding good candidates combine to diminish what ought, in theory, to be sweep prospects.

The same is being said by Democratic leaders and others about the outlooks in the governship field.

Democrats presently command a 32 to 18 advantage over Republicans. All four of the big states — New York, Massachusetts, Michigan and California — still held by the GOP are on the block this time. Yet it may not be easy to squeeze the Republicans down much further. Their governorship total fell to 14 in 1938, but that was a year of sharp economic recession.

GOP incumbents Govs. Francis Sargent in Massachusetts and William Milliken in Michigan look strong, and the Democrats simply haven't turned up high-grade challengers so far.

New York's newly installed Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who took over when Nelson Rockefeller bowed out late in his fourth term, is being rated increasingly tough. As is now so painfully habitual in that state, Democrats are torn factionally and having their troubles turning up an impressive, fresh-faced candidate.

Some of the Democrats' earlier confidence about California has evaporated too. They don't see a big plus in the indictment on the ITT matter of one GOP contender, Lt. Gov. Edward Reinecke. They figure him to lose anyway to rival Houston Flournoy, state controller.

The Democrats' evident leader, state Attorney General Edmund Brown Jr., son of the former governor, could do well. But there is worry that the party's developing lineup for major statewide offices may be "too ethnic" and thus, on net balance, offer a limited appeal that could hurt all contenders.

D.B. to renew plea for busing

DIAMOND BAR — Concerned members of the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association will appear before the Pomona school board April 23 to ask once again that the district provide busing for Diamond Bar students who attend Ganesha High School.

Last September, the school board voted 3-2 not to accept an administrative recommendation and provide the transportation, even though money was available to pay for it.

All year, high school students living in north Diamond Bar have had to provide their own transportation to Ganesha.

The split vote grew out of the argument that the district should not spend money to bus Diamond Bar students after Diamond Bar residents—calling for "books not buses" —worked to defeat a busing plan which would have integrated Pomona schools two years ago.

"This is a most important matter for all of Diamond Bar because the school transportation question divides the area," said homeowners publicity chairman Sid Rose.

He pointed out that children living in south Diamond Bar who attend Walnut district schools are provided transportation while those who live in north Diamond Bar who must come into Pomona are not.

"Is it possible that the Pomona Unified School District is deaf to the appeal of approximately 700 students or over half of the students at Ganesha High School?" asked Rose.

Currently Ganesha has an enrollment of 1,113 students. Of this total, 475 live in Diamond Bar. However, in September when the ninth graders are transferred to the high schools, it is expected that Ganesha will have an enrollment of approximately 1,737. About 675 of these are expected to come from Diamond Bar.

Last September when the Pomona school board voted to reject the busing recommendation, part of the motion was that the present policy (no busing) be maintained one year and that further study be made of transportation needs.

The motion was made by Roy O. Day, and seconded by Don Donnelly. Day, Donnelly and Dr. James Bell, board chairman, voted to reject the recommendation while Ken Pine and Philip S. Wessels voted to accept.

CECIL HOOVER

Sertoma Club elects Hoover

DIAMOND BAR — Cecil Hoover will assume duties as president of the Diamond Bar Sertoma Club July 1.

Hoover has been a club member seven months and a Diamond Bar resident 10 years. He is active in the Diamond Bar Homeowners Association and has been active in community youth organizations.

He owns a reading center in Upland. He was an unsuccessful candidate for Pomona school board in 1973. He is married and has four children.

Others elected April 2 to serve with Hoover are Leo Neeleman, vice president of membership; Ed Carcelli, vice president of programs; Chuck Van Natter, vice president, sponsorship; Jorge Soares, secretary; Ted Huttger, treasurer; and Fred Litle, sergeant at arms.

Ron Pannell, Joe Baughman and Frank Ray were elected to the board of directors.

Officers will be installed at a joint banquet for four California clubs in the Cal-Vada District of Sertoma International.

Meanwhile the Diamond Bar club is making plans to send delegates to regional, state and district conventions April 25-27 in Reno, Nev.

Recent sponsorships include We T.I.P., Inc., Diamond Bar Little League and The Sertoma Foundation for Speech and Hearing Hospitals.

Club members donated $200 to a Senior League Major Division Little League Team, $70 to We T.I.P. and $100 to the Sertoma Foundation.

They are planning a booth and a parade entry in the Diamond Bar Roundup and will provide manpower for the Diamond Bar Junior Olympics.

The club meets the first and third Tuesdays at 8 p.m. at Diamond Point II Club. Anyone interested in joining may call Hoover at 595-2167.

Walnut resident elected to L.A. Jaycee position

WALNUT — Peter P. Klute, a Walnut resident, has been elected vice president of community relations for the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Klute, of 1333 Wesleyan Ave., will serve for a second term as vice president of the 1,000-member service organization.

He also has served the junior chamber as a member of the board of directors, chairman of the human relations and public relations committees, scholarship administrator and chairman of the 1974 Presidential Ball.

He is supervisor of the news bureau at Southern California Gas Co. He and his wife Pat have five children.

First MSAC library grant winner chosen

WALNUT — Val Sumpter of Hacienda Heights has been named the first Mt. San Antonio College student recipient of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers' library technician scholarship, it was announced by MSAC library dean Harriet Genung.

The sophomore coed is a library technical assistant major at the college but hopes to continue her education at a four-year institution some time next year.

In addition to her full-time class schedule, Miss Sumpter, 20, also finds time to work as a library aide at the Hacienda branch of the Los Angeles County Library. She assists the librarian with her regular duties, mans the circulation desk, and does routine filing and typing. Val says the course work at MSAC and the part-time job at the library have whetted her appetite for more education in the field for a full-time career.

Peugeot.

What makes this car so interesting to people getting 11, 12, 13 miles per gallon?

The 24 miles per gallon reported in a road test by Popular Science Magazine,* September, 1973.

But when Popular Science also said that Detroit auto makers bought Peugeots for testing and examination, we suspect it wasn't just to find out how many miles Peugeot delivers. More likely, it was to discover how Peugeot is able to offer this kind of economy without stinting on the comforts so important to domestic car owners. Without sacrificing the superb maneuverability and handling that is Peugeot.

Peugeot is the elegant, mid-size, mid-price import with uncommon standard features: independent suspension, disc brakes, reclining bucket seats, Michelin steel-belted radial tires and, on the sedan, a steel sliding sunroof.

Consider the advantages of Peugeot. Detroit auto makers did.

*Test results were achieved at a constant speed of 45 miles per hour.

Experience the '74 Peugeot Sedan and Station Wagon. See your local dealer listed in the Yellow Pages.

VICTIM OF BEATING — Dorothy Hanson comforts her son, Robert, 10, the young newsboy who was savagely beaten five weeks ago while delivering his papers in Oakland. The boy is unable to speak more than an occasional and blurred "no." Doctors treating him are still unable to say how much damage he suffered in the attack which was so brutal he was given a three per cent chance of survival.

Las Vegas-type gambling sought for Times Square

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Broadway Association Wednesday revealed plans to introduce Las Vegas-type gambling casinos to Times Square to revitalize the area.

Seymour Durst, director of a real estate corporation, was named chairman of a subcommittee set up to seek legislative approval of the plan. The Broadway Association is made up of business executives in the Times Square area who operate theaters, movie houses, and a variety of other businesses such as banks, department stores, publishing and real estate offices.

The plan was disclosed after a three-month investigation by the Association and after neighboring New Jersey announced tentative plans to bring legalized gambling to Atlantic City.

Durst, aware of the move in New Jersey, is urging the legislature in Albany to pass enabling legislation this year.

"We could get a good head start," he said, "and we need it."

New Jersey Gov. Brendan T. Byrne has stated that if his state legalizes gambling it would only be in Atlantic City to begin with.

Poddy the Poacher must pass along police-imposed overhead

DRAYTON, England (UPI) — Twice in the past few months Lady Luck frowned on Poddy the Poacher. Police caught him plying his trade and fined him $720.

So Poddy has decided to pass along this "increased overhead" to the people who buy his meat.

Poddy, whose real name is Derek Podmore, notified his customers by placing the following notice in three Drayton shops:

"Attention please. Mr. Derek Podmore Poddy regrets that owing to unforeseen circumstances and the escalating cost of living his game produce will be increased as follows.

"Venison 14 pounds (33.60) to 17 pounds ($40) a side, salmon one pound ($2.40) per pound and trout 75 pence ($1.80) per pound. Yours truly, Drayton's own merchant of venison, Poddy."

Poddy said he was paying off his fines at the rate of $15 per week, "and unfortunately I have to pass this increased overhead on to my customers."

They're beating inflation

Missouri farmer still using mules for working his land

FAYETTE, Mo. (UPI) — Howard Sartain's mules won a walkaway victory over the machine age years ago. Now they're on a collision course with inflation—a fight Sartain says they already have won.

"Sure, I'm keeping my mules," he said. "They do everything a tractor can do and sometimes more and you sure don't have much feeling for a tractor. I'm fond of my mules."

Sartain and his four nameless mules farm 250 acres of mid-Missouri land, mostly in hay because "We're going more into livestock."

"Those mules plow, they disk, they do all there is to do— except once in a while I hire a tractor for some extra heavy work."

Sartain said that so far as he knows "I'm the only farmer— anyway the only one around here—who still works mules for what a Missouri mule's intended."

The cost of mule upkeep, like everything else is zooming.

"A horse collar used to cost maybe $5," Sartain said. "Now it's $20 when you can find one— which is only one place over in California, Mo., so far as I know. And I keep my mules in good sound harness.

"You take shoes—they used to be a dollar a foot. Now they're $9 per foot."

Sartain said his mules eat mostly hay which "we raise"— a phrase that gives you the feel that "we" means him and the mules—"But I give each one of 'em a couple of gallons of corn a day. Corn costs about $3 a bushel—my prices."

But Sartain has no problems with fuel shortages and doesn't worry about the price of diesel nor what the Arabs do.

"No," he said, "the energy crisis has nothing to do with me keeping my mules. I've been driving mules since I was 10— when my father took me out and let me drive. And I've been breaking 'em since I was 18. But I don't break mules for anybody else anymore—just myself.

"I'm 76 years old."

No more names

In the 66 years since Sartain first drove a mule he has owned so many that he ran out of ideas for names "and I just don't name 'em any more."

Sartain works his mules in two pairs, or as a single team of four "when the work's awful heavy." He said he has a standing offer of $1,800 for one of the matched pairs and $2,000 for the other.

"But they aren't for sale, period. I'm keeping 'em. Besides a good young mule costs $750 these days, and you got to train it."

His help in handling the animals, which he sees as patient, intelligent and dependable, is slowly diminishing.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RESOLUTION OF INTENTION TO LEASE REAL PROPERTY FOR DEVELOPMENT AND USE AND OPERATION AS A PUBLIC GOLF COURSE

WHEREAS, the County of Los Angeles is the owner of real property known as Frank G. Bonelli Regional Park; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, has found that the public interest and welfare will be served by leasing an area within said regional park for development and use and operation as a public golf course and appurtenant facilities to be known as Mountain Meadows Golf Course:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as follows:

1. That it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors to lease the real property described in Exhibit "A" of the Lease and Concession Agreement pertaining to Mountain Meadows Golf Course on file with the Executive-Officer-Clerk of the Board.

2. That said real property will be leased for the development and use and operation of a public golf course and appurtenant facilities.

3. That the terms for the development and use and operation of said real property as a public golf course and appurtenant facilities are set forth in said Lease and Concession Agreement.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as follows:

1. That it is the intention of the Board of Supervisors to lease said real property to the person who offers the highest percentage of the gross monthly receipts derived from greens fees.

2. That all interested persons are to submit to the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors at Room 383, Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street, Los Angeles, California prior to 9:30 a.m. May 9, 1974, sealed bids setting forth the said greens fees percentage offered to be paid to the County of Los Angeles for the use and operation of said real property as a public golf course and appurtenant facilities. Each bid must be accompanied by a cashier's check or a check certified by a responsible bank in the County of Los Angeles and payable to said County in the amount of $10,000.00 as a guarantee that the person submitting the bid will execute the said Lease and Concession Agreement upon acceptance of the bid by the Board of Supervisors.

3. That all persons, groups, partnerships or corporations, submitting sealed bids must provide a statement of qualifications and experience in the design, construction, and operation of a full size 18-hole golf course commensurate in scope with the proposed Mountain Meadows Golf Course, and evidence of ability to finance.

4. That said bids will be considered by the Board of Supervisors on May 9, 1974, at a public meeting to be held at Room 383 Hall of Administration, 500 West Temple Street, Los Angeles California.

5. No bid of less than 8% will be accepted and the Board of Supervisors reserves the right to reject all bids.

The foregoing Resolution was duly and regularly adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, on the 2nd day of April 1974.

JAMES S. MIZE, Executive-Officer-Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County, and ex-officio clerk of the governing body of all other special assessment and taxing districts for which said Board so acts.

Mexican robber meets downfall

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Paco Anton, the last of Mexico's rural robber barons, may have started his spectacular downfall when he tried to fix a federal judge in a narcotics case.

Paco, once the overlord of Tapachula on the Guatemala frontier, is in a military prison. So are Tapachula's mayor and chief of police. So are Paco's three brothers. So far, 26 people have been arrested.

Federal authorities estimate that up to 150 people may have been murdered in the past 15 years after crossing Paco Anton one way or another.

Paco was arrested in February, but the case did not attract national attention until this week, after the army occupied the city hall in Tapachula.

Paco, 36, and his brothers own thousands of acres of coffee lands and purebred cattle pastures. The government says they built their fortune by smuggling, selling submachine guns, rustling cattle, strongarming tardy debtors and fixing local police.

Sometimes people complained about Paco. Thereafter their cattle suddenly got sick and died. Their houses burned down. Their wells were poisoned. State authorities found it impossible to get witnesses to make a case against Paco.

Paco had left federal authorities strictly alone until last December, when he asked a federal judge to release a "friend," jailed in Tapachula for running narcotics from Guatemala. The judge shook his head. Paco began to have troubles he'd never had before.

One afternoon this January, Paco was taking his usual walk around Tapachula's crowded town plaza. He met the army general commanding the local border force. The general was unarmed. He said he had a favor to ask of Paco.

"I'm not trying to take your pistol away from you, Paco'" he said. "I'm just asking you, as a friend, to stop wearing it. Take it home and put it away."

"As long as I wear pants I'll wear this pistol," Paco replied.

In February reporter Efrain Villatorio began writing an expose of the Anton gang for a Mexico City newspaper. Villatorio was machinegunned to death at his typewriter.

Then Paco made his final mistake. He paid a visit to the state capital, Tuxtla Gutierrez. There the army surprised him, disarmed him, jailed him incomunicado. Other arrests followed.

Some of those arrested, many of them wearing the U.S. Army surplus fatigues Paco called the uniform of his "boys," have begun to talk, legal sources said.

In Tuxtla Gutierrez Monday, state attorney general Luis Dominguez Carrascosa promised Anton and his cohorts would meet the full force of the law.

Adhering to no ideology, gangs like the one in Tapachula lived only for private gain. Gunmen sometimes painted a black hand on the corpse of their victim, to inspire fear and respect—a custom dating back hundreds of years in Latin countries.

Authorities here believe that in Tapachula, the black hand may have left its last imprint in Mexico.

A little nip doesn't hurt

GUTHRIE, Okla. (UPI) — James "Pony" Johnson is 105 and drinks, but not to excess and never whisky.

"I drink a little gin every day with a piere of rock candy in it," Johnson said Wednesday.

"A little nip in the morning and one at night won't hurt you but the worst thing you can do is run around and drink whisky," he said. "It makes man do and say things he wouldn't do otherwise."

Whisky, he said, is bad, "especially if you get drunk."

Johnson said his father, once a slave in Tennessee, died in 1904 at 125 and his mother died in 1923 at 118. He has two living brothers and three sisters, the youngest a brother, 88, and the oldest a sister, 101.

Johnson's wife of 59 years, Babe' died in 1964 and he lives alone and has no children. He said he was born in Smith County, Tex., in 1869, one of nine children, and went to school only three days because he had to help support the large family.

"Pony" has picked cotton, farmed and ran a billiard parlor for 20 years. He was mowing lawns until he quit two years ago and regrets he never had the opportunities some do.

"Young people have a better opportunity now but they throw it away too quickly," he said. "Why if I had a chance to make $35 or $50 a day like they do now, I'd be a millionaire."

GOP candidate charges Veysey offices in 35th district illegal

CHINO — Henry Gerardo, seeking the Republican nomination in the newly formed 35th Congressional District, has accused Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., of squandering taxpayers' dollars on the illegal establishment of field offices in Covina and Pomona.

In remarks made to the Chino Republican Women's Club, Gerardo claimed Veysey to be responsible for excess expenditures of $350 per office, per month and over $12,000 per month for staff support to maintain offices in a district he has no right to represent.

Gerardo charged Veysey with neglecting the interests of his own 43rd District constituents when, as the result of recent reapportionment of districts, he moved into the 35th District. Gerardo maintains this to be unnecessary duplication since there is already duly elected congressional representation for the area.

A spokesman for Veysey countered that the move and establishment of field offices was officially sanctioned and perfectly proper under the law. Furthermore, the spokesman listed staff support expenses at less than $5,000 per month for the congressman's entire district staff.

Congressmen are allowed three field offices with a total maximum of $500 per month in rent, $1,100 per quarter for telephone and office expenses, and a total of 16 staff members with a maximum allotment of $194,000, according to the congressman's spokesman.

Bicentennial cities chosen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five Texas cities have been named as bicentennial communities by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission. They are Galveston, San Antonia, San Marcos, Temple and Lubbock.

Mary Montes backers to hold fiesta at fairgrounds

POMONA — A fiesta featuring mariachi music, food, dancing, games and prizes will be sponsored Sunday at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds' Picnic Hill by the campaign committee for Mary Montes, Democratic candidate in the newly formed 35th Congressional District.

An Easter bunny will be in attendance to have his picture taken with children and to conduct egg hunts and give away prizes.

The event will last from noon to 7 p.m. Entertainers will include the Judy Torres Dancers, guitarist and singer Hector Aguinega, the UCLA folkloric dancers, the Mexipan Dancers directed by Benjaimin Hernandez, the Tilines Mariachi and rock musicians.

Admission is 50 cents per person with children under 12 free.

Lloyd opposes OIA westward expansion

ONTARIO — Any westward expansion of Ontario International Airport is opposed by Jim Lloyd, candidate in the 35th Congressional District.

Speaking before the Pomona Valley Pilots Association, Lloyd stated: 'It is important that those of us who are air transportation enthusiasts be mindful and sensitive to the needs of those who are impacted by noise generated by aircraft operating from Ontario.

"As a matter of fact, it is incumbent upon all of us to exercise not only concern, but actively participate in noise abatement programs."

Lloyd, a Democrat is president of the Friends of Ontario International Airport (FOOIA), an airport support group, and also serves on the West Covina City Council.

The candidate said he has supported an eastward development of the airport. He pledged to help find a solution which might provide an even further eastward movement of an approach threshhold than proposed by recent impact studies.

"The state of the art in precision approach systems could provide for segmented approach and even allow for circling approaches based on today's precision standards," he added.

Sen. Ayala moves to bolster school links

Citing education as "one of my top priorities in Sacramento," State Sen. Ruben S. Ayala, D-20th Dist., is establishing an open line of communicatiin with high schools in his district.

"We are meeting with all high school principals in every sector of San Bernardino County letting them know that we are interested in the sepcial projects in their schools and in learning what the students and faculty feel about the important issues of concern to all Californians," Ayala said.

Ayala also indicated that he or his representatives would be visiting classrooms occasionally, meeting with student government to solicit suggestions on legislation, and were willing to meet with other school related organizations.

The high school principals will be contacted by Ayala's San Bernardino field representative, Sal Rios.

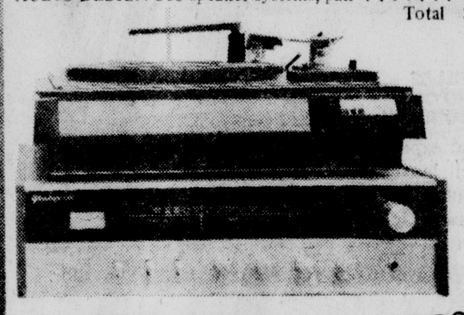
What's the Difference Between a Stereo System and an Easter Egg?

Come to Pacific Stereo and you'll find it's simple: it's fun to hunt for Easter eggs, but hunting for a stereo system is the last thing you want to do. It's hard to get a good deal on a system, searching for a receiver here and a pair of speakers there. Fortunately, there's no need to hunt for music systems, not with Pacific Stereo in town. We have the widest selection and lowest prices around, as well as knowledgeable salespeople who'll make sure you get exactly what you want. The equipment here is a good example of how low our prices really are, and you'll find even more in the stores. And when you get home and switch on your new music system after the hunt, the fun really begins . . .

Surprise... A Component System for $197

You don't need a lot of money to get started in stereo components – witness this system for only $197. It'll give you the kind of sound you can only dream about with portables. The heart of the system is the TransAudio receiver, an AM/FM stereo model with good performance and the flexibility to let you expand your system when you're ready (like with the addition of a tape deck). For speakers, we've selected the compact, two-way Audio Design 806's; and we're completing the system with BSR's 260A automatic record player. You'd pay $279.35 if you purchased these components separately, but our system price gets you going for over $82 less and includes our written Five-Year Service Agreement.

To purchase these components separately, you would pay:
TRANSAUDIO 5502 receiver w/walnut case $149.95
BSR 260A record player, base, Shure M81 cartridge . . 49.50
AUDIO DESIGN 806 speaker systems, pair 79.90
Total $279.35



$197 Save $82.35

Sansui's Best Record Player

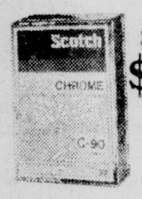
$189.95

Looking for a top manual record player with perhaps a few automatic features? Here's the Sansui 2050C, a belt-driven model with an arm that lifts automatically at the end of the record. The 2050C's overall performance is first-rate, and it comes complete with a base, dust cover and Sansui's own cartridge.

Exclusive Offer on Scotch CrO_2 Cassettes

To introduce these new Scotch brand blank cassettes, we're offering them at tempting prices. Later on, we'll be selling them at $1.99 and $2.99 respectively (and the Scotch price is even more). So if you require the quality of chromium dioxide tape, this is a good time to put in a supply.

SC60CR $1.50

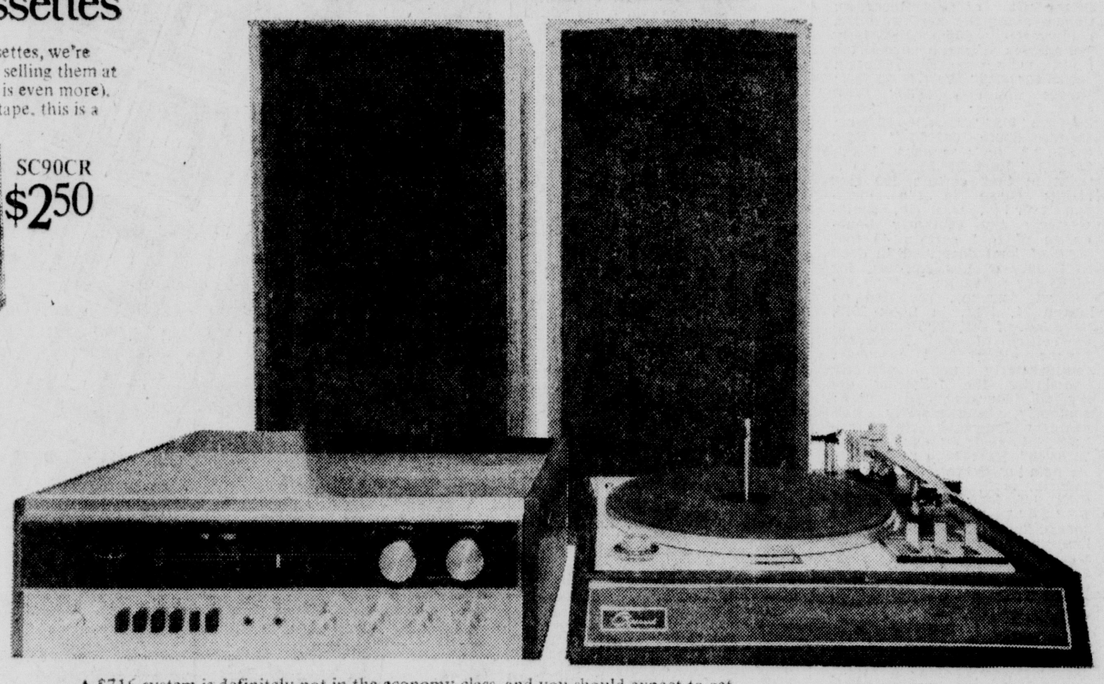


SC90CR $2.50

And Low Prices on Other Blank Tape

AMPEX 358 C60 cassette, reg. 99¢ . . . . . 49¢
AMPEX 384 84-min. 8-track cartridge, reg. $1.99 . . . . 99¢

Looking for Something Special? A Sherwood System with a $140 Discount



A $716 system is definitely not in the economy class, and you should expect to get components out of the ordinary. Like perhaps the Garrard Zero 100c automatic record player, with its innovative articulated tonearm that keeps the stylus at exactly the correct angle in the record groove so you'll actually hear cleaner sound from any record.

Or maybe the Sherwood S7200 receiver. The hi-fi magazines rave about this AM/FM stereo model, and with good reason: it has one of the best-sounding tuners around in addition to 80 watts (RMS @ 1kHz) of distortion-free power. Of course, you should have speakers that'll let you appreciate the 7200's quality, and that's where the BIC Venturis come in. They're totally new designs that can handle the entire power output of the 7200 to achieve earsplitting volumes, and they sound just as good at lower levels.

Indeed, some very special components. And complete with our written Five-Year Service Agreement.

To purchase these components separately, you would pay:
SHERWOOD S7200 receiver with walnut case $359.95
GARRARD Zero 100c record player, base, Shure M73PED elliptical cartridge 224.95
BIC Venturi Formula 4 speaker systems, pair 272.00
Total $856.90

$716 Save $140.90

A Great Find... $20 Savings on Quadraflex 'Phones

Quadraflex Model 30's are comfortable, smooth-sounding headphones with a convenient slide-type volume control on each earpiece. They're quite popular at the regular $39.95 price; this week you can pick up a set for just $19.95.

$19.95

Stereo Expertise for $1.75

How to Buy Stereo Components, by Peter Johnson, is probably the most readable book yet written on that subject, and we think it's the most helpful as well. It contains all the information you'll need to choose the perfect stereo system for your tastes and budget.

Hines raises some eyebrows

Ben Hines, La Verne College's fiery baseball coach, raised a few eyebrows this spring.

Before the season even started, Hines publicly said this year's Leopard baseball team is the strongest he's had at La Verne.

Not potentially. Not probably. THE strongest.

When the Leos got off to a slow, 5-4, start, it appeared that Hines may have made one of his rare errors in assessing his team.

But unless La Verne falls completely apart in the next two games against Grand Canyon today and Saturday in Phoenix, there is strong reason to suspect that Hines' crystal ball was not smog-glazed after all.

The Leos tore Arizona State apart on their annual trek to Tempe. Hines' team ripped ASU pitching for 39 hits and 31 runs in three games while registering 8-1, 11-3, and 12-2 victories earlier this week.

Meanwhile, Hines' pitchers were rationing Sun Devil hitters to 16 hits and six runs including leadoff batter Bump Wills who went two-for-11. And La Verne fielders made only two errors in the series while ASU committed seven.

Arizona State? THE Arizona State? The school that produced Reggie Jackson, Rick Monday, and Sal Bando not to mention Bobby Winkles?

The very same.

ASU had a 27-15 record going into the series, had won the Riverside tourney and was rated fifth nationally in the University Division of college baseball.

The Leos (12-5) were somewhere between sixth and 10th in the NAIA Division and practically unknown outside of Southern California, Phoenix, and St. Joseph Missouri (in national NAIA playoffs).

Impressive record

Ben Hines has been coaching at La Verne since 1959. His teams have won 372 games while losing only 198 for a percentage of .650 including the 15-5 mark this year.

In 1972, he led La Verne to a 44-9 record and an NAIA national championship. His 1969 team posted a 38-16 mark and finished second nationally to William Carey College of Mississippi.

Hines was named District Three Coach of the Year in 1972 and 1973 and finished second in balloting for national coach of the year honors in 1973.

The Leo coach has been active in managing semipro teams during the summer the last five years and just recently was hired by the California Angels to manage Ogden in the professional Pioneer League this summer.

He was named Basin League Manager of the Year in 1972 and 1973. Since 1969. Hines has sent 17 players into the professional ranks.

Angel official Dick Wiencek, who recommended Hines for the Ogden job, said, "Ben can communicate with the kids today. That's about the most important qualification for managing besides being a good baseball man."

But the thrill of sweeping ASU in three games ranks near the top of his achievements.

"It has to be one of the greatest thrills, " he said via telephone from Phoenix. "Anytime you can beat Arizona State three out of three, it's great. When we came over here, we were hoping to win one out of the three. Since we have three good pitchers, I thought we had a chance to take one game."

Hines paid due tribute to his players.

Team was outstanding

"We got outstanding pitching all three games," he said, "with route-going jobs from (John) Verhoeven, (Dan) Quisenberry, and (Robb) Mayhew which is a real plus against their fine lineup.

"I think our defense was also outstanding," he continued. "We made only two errors and that good a performance really helped us. And when you average over 10 runs per game against ASU, you have to be playing well. I think they still have a great team. They've just run into a slump and some good pitching."

Hines was particularly happy with the showing of Art Sanchez and Hank Merenda. Sanchez played center field. Jesse Mendoza, who started the week hitting only .162, went hitless and was finally replaced by Eric Frazier who, in turn, had been displaced by Sanchez.

Sanchez responded with seven hits in 15 at-bats including three doubles and two triples while batting in five runs. Merenda not only hit well (three doubles, a triple, an inside-the-park home run and five RBI's) but played excellent defense.

Verhoeven's earned run average now stands at 0.73 based on 49 innings pitched and only four earned runs allowed. The Leo staff ERA is 1.97 reflecting the consistency of hurling.

With 126 runs in 120 games, the Leopards are averaging 6.3 runs per game.

Unknown Colbert early leader

Nicklaus close at hand

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — The Masters leaders read more like who's that than who's who, but Jack Nicklaus is right where you'd expect him to be—close at hand.

The pacesetter, going into today's second round, is a stumpy Kansan named Jim Colbert who is relatively unknown despite having won three tournaments in nine years on the PGA tour.

The three runnerups—Hubert Green, Hale Irwin and Don Iverson—are pretty much in the same boat. Green still has trouble getting people to spell his name correctly. Even though he won the Bob Hope Classic and at Jacksonville earlier this year, people kept mistaking him for Bert Greene, also in this tournament.

Colbert, who has won less than $14,000 so far this year, closed strong in Thursday's opening round to post a 5-under-par 67, the first time he had broken par in three Masters' appearances.

Green, Irwin and Iverson all had 68s, with Irwin getting his by running off a string of five straight birdies on the back nine of the sun-swept Augusta National Course.

But all four had to be uneasy. Nicklaus, four-time champion and pre-tournament favorite, was only two strokes off the pace—and that's because he missed a number of the sort of putts he usually makes with ease.

"Early in the round, I wasn't aggressive enough with my putting," said Nicklaus. "I missed some silly little putts. But, I would have been satisfied with my round if I hadn't bogeyed 18 (where he missed a 12-footer)."

Nicklaus made it clear he expects conditions to favor him over those ahead of him the next three days.

"If the greens speed up, as expected, it will favor the better, more experienced players," said Nicklaus. And, who fits that bill more than he?

Colbert, delighted last year to make the cut here, said he felt playing in two previous Masters helps his chances this time.

"When I came here this year, I felt I had served my apprenticeship," he said.

The 32-year-old Colbert had six birdies and only one bogey in Thursday's round. But he felt the birdies at Nos. 12 and 13 were the key to his round.

"I could very easily have thrown the entire round away on those two holes," sighed Colbert with relief. "Getting out of trouble like I did made the round."

At the par three 12th, Colbert overshot the green and thought he might be in water. But the ball halted on the crest and a 25-foot chip shot went in the hole. He had to come through a clump of trees at the par five 13th after nearly going into water again.

"I made one terrible shot and three super shots at 13," said Colbert, who added that he considered it a thrill whenever he shot a 67 "even in practice."

Ray Floyd, Gene Littler, Dan Sikes and Frank Beard—all better known than the leaders— were tied with Nicklaus at 3 under par. Billy Casper and Art Wall, a pair of veteran former champions, were in a group at 70 and Gary Player, only foreigner ever to win the Masters (1961), and Tom Weiskopf were in another group at 71 as 21 out of 78 starters broke par.

The 50-year-old Wall, who won here back in 1959, picked up four strokes in three holes with a birdie-eagle-birdie streak, becoming the first man ever to put three deuces back to back in Masters' play.

Sam Snead, who admits he'll be 62 next month, shot an even par 72 and was furious at himself for missing five putts under eight feet. "It's the same old thing," fumed Snead, a three-time Masters champion. "You've got to make those short putts if you want to win around here."

The field will be cut to the low 44 scorers and ties after today's second round. The weatherman predicted a chance of afternoon showers but had a better forecast for Saturday and Sunday, when sunny skies are predicted.

SAVES GOAL

Los Angeles Kings' goalie Rogie Vachon makes a save on shot by Black Hawks' Darcy Rota (18), who is being slowed down by the stick of Kings' Terry Harper in Chicago's 4-1 win Thursday night.

Kings hope home ice helps

CHICAGO (UPI) — Coach Bob Pulford listed two factors today, home ice and experience, which he hoped would pull his Los Angeles Kings back into contention with the Chicago Black Hawks in their Stanley Cup Playoff series.

The Kings took their second straight defeat without a win Thursday night, 4-1, and Coach Billy Reay of the Hawks declared the games were much closer than the scores.

"They were nip and tuck," Reay said, "and you throw out the two open net goals and scores of 2-1 and 3-1 more represent the difference between the teams."

"Going home has to help us," Pulford said, "and the experience of these two games will be in our favor. Our goals go well and then let down. We're inconsistent.

"We didn't play bad. We can play better and we have to play better. Two games at home is to our advantage now and we'll be back in this series."

Thursday night the Kings never led but had a tie early in the second period when Bob Nevin scored to match a first period goal by the Hawks' Dick Redmond.

Stan Mikita got the winning goal for the Black Hawks with less than two minutes remaining in the second period and in the final period Dennis Hull and Jim Pappin scored for Chicago, Pappin into an empty net with 33 seconds to play.

Mikita's goal made him the seventh player in modern Stanley Cup records to score 50 goals and the score boosted his total points in the playoffs to 130, the third highest on the books for any player since the Stanley Cup became the exclusive property of National Hockey League teams in 1927.

"I didn't even know about the points or the goal," Mikita said. "I knew I had quite a few but I didn't know how many and I thought there were several others with 50."

Reay praised the Kings for their performance and said "they're a real tough team and a good shooting team. I'm thankful we won the first two here."

Reay said the opening playoff series, requiring four games in five nights, "puts a premium on conditioning." He praised Chico Maki for his performance at center replacing the injured Pit Martin.

The third and fourth games of the series will be played in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday nights with the fifth game, if necessary, in the Hawks' rink next Tuesday night.

Stanton keeps Herzog smiling

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — When the Angels hired Whitey Herzog, they got more than a third base coach.

What they got was an unabashed Lee Stanton booster. Herzog was director of player development for the New York Mets from 1967 to 1972 when he quit to manage the Texas Rangers.

Two of his proteges were Stanton and Nolan Ryan. Stanton, who has batted just .235 and .251 in his two years in the major leagues, had a great spring and has continued to hit for both average and power in the regular season.

Thursday night at Anaheim Stadium Stanton got the key hit, a three-run, 400-foot home run over the centerfield fence. That blast, off Pete Broberg, put the Angels ahead, 5-4, and the Halos went on to take an 11-8 game from the visiting Texas Rangers and take over the Western Division lead.

Stanton also had a single in three official trips to the plate. That raised his average to a scorching .455 (10 hits in 22 at-bats). Among the hits are three doubles and three homers and he has batted in eight runs.

What's the difference between the 1974 model Stanton and the inconsistent Stanton of the last two years?

"More confidence, that's all," the 6-1, 195-pound rightfielder told writers after the game. "I don't let things upset me this year like they did last year. I'd have a bad night and brood about it. Now I forget it. I swung at a couple of bad pitches tonight, but it didn't bother me."

When Stanton came up in the third inning, there were two out. Bob Oliver, who had singled, was on third base. Mike Epstein, who had doubled, was on second.

The Angel rightfielder quickly got himself in the hole, no balls and two strikes. But he smashed the third pitch over the fence.

"Whitey (Herzog) has helped me a lot," said Stanton. He's always helped me. I tend to squeeze the bat too hard and he's always on me about it, reminding me, and telling me I can do the job."

There were other heroes, too, in the Halos' 15-hit attack. Bobby Valentine, back in left field after sitting down one game, singled and tripled in four trips and made a good running catch at the foul line in the fifth inning.

The two hits raised Valentine's average to .438 (seven hits including two triples in 16 at-bats).

Mike Epstein, who got his first hit of the season Wednesday night, had a single, double, and home run to push his average from a microscopic .067 to .211 and tied a club record by scoring four runs.

Epstein, who feels the writers have overdone writing about his poor spring and slow start, was not to be found in the Angel clubhouse although writers waited for as long as 20 minutes after the game. The big slugger had begun refusing to talk with the scribes during the later stages of spring training.

Frank Robinson slammed his first homer of the year. The blow cleared the left centerfield fence and was the 553rd of Robby's great career.

The game did not start out in a promising manner. Bill Singer was tagged for four runs on four hits after two were out in the first inning, only two earned because of an error by shortstop Dave Chalk.

Singer finished with eight runs (five earned) on seven hits in 7 2-3 innings. Bullet Bill gave up the same number of walks, six, as he struck out. He also was charged with a balk that forced in a run in the sixth inning.

"Singer didn't have his best stuff," observed manager Bobby Winkles. "when you're out there without great stuff, you have to throw strikes."

Winkles, naturally, was delighted with the win which put them a half game in front in the Western Division.

"The games you win in April, you don't have to win in September," he grinned. "If the last two months of this season are as bad as last year, I'll have my house up for sale." Becoming serious, he commented, "Our pitching hasn't been sharp. It's not as good as it's going to be."

Nolan Ryan, 1-1 and with a 9.00 earned run average, will start tonight after going only one full inning Tuesday. Ryan's opponent will be Terry Forster.

Aaron's 716th beats Dodgers

ATLANTA (UPI) — Herm Starrette, pitching coach of the Atlanta Braves, was smiling after Thursday night's 6-4 win over Los Angeles.

Can you imagine that? A Braves' pitching coach smiling?

But Danny Frisella had come in from the bullpen to hold the Dodgers for the last two innings to preserve the win for Phil Niekro. It was Frisella's third appearance this year and he hasn't allowed a run.

What's more, he had to pitch himself out of a ninth-inning jam to put the game away.

"It can be done, huh?" Frisella asked after the game.

Starrette, an optimist, said, "That's not too bad. We're very proud of him (Frisella). I'm pleased with our pitching thus far. It has been pretty good and I know it's going to get a lot better.

"We know we're going to get a lot of runs and this year we think we'll have the pitching to hold the lead."

Starrette, of course, is new on the job. He wasn't around last season when the Braves' relief corps again and again kicked away leads in the late innings.

But maybe things have changed.

Thursday's game appeared to be following the pattern that so many took last season. Niekro started well and went six strong innings. In the seventh he weakened, giving up a base on balls and three hits and Los Angeles jumped out to a 4-3 lead.

Up to that point it seemed like a game from last year. The Braves hitters came storming back in the bottom of the seventh.

Mike Lum hit a homer and then Henry Aaron walloped his 716th. Johnny Oates made it 6-4 with a run-scoring double and the game was left in the hands of the bullpen.

Last year, of course, it was at this point where everything fell apart for the Braves. But Frisella put the Dodgers out in order in the eighth. In the ninth he got into a jam with two outs when pinch hitters Von Joshua doubled and Manny Mota singled.

Runners were on first and third with two outs. Braves fans exchanged knowing "here we go again" looks.

But Frisella got Bill Buckner on a fly ball in deep center field and the Braves split the series, 2-2, with the faststarting Dodgers.

Frisella pointed out another big difference between this team and last year's Braves. The Braves now are fielding better. Rowland Office's catch in centerfield for the final out came on a ball that could easily have gotten through for a twobase hit.

Competition looks keen in AAU 165-pound class

POMONA — The Southern Pacific Association's (AAU) District Boxing Championships begin Monday at the Los Angeles County Fairgrounds, and the major question on the minds of most amateur boxing enthusiasts is who's going to win the 165-pound division?

While competition in all weight classes in the SPAAU championships should be keen, the 165 pound crown should be the most hotly contested.

Tommy Brooks of San Diego has the most experience in that Middleweight division, having captured a bronze medal in the 1973 National AAU Championships.

However, Brooks should have his hands full against some top-flight competition.

Hawthorne's Don Wyne, only 16, is regarded as a real comer.

Wyne, a student at Hawthorne High, has set his sights on a Gold Medal from the 1976 Olympics at Montreal, and a win over Brooks would be a big step towards that goal.

Danny Sanders of Pasadena, a recent winner in the Regional Golden Golden Gloves Championship at Anaheim, is also expected to challenge for the 165-pound title.

Sanders and Wyne have split a pair of prior bouts, so this time around could prove to be the rubber match. That is, providing Brooks doesn't upset the apple cart.

The Middleweight division is just one of eleven that promises to produce plenty of action.

The elimination bouts will be held Monday evening beginning at 8 p.m. in Building 7A at the Fairgrounds. Semi-finals will take place on Wednesday evening, with the finals slated for Saturday night, April 20.

Gates open at 7:30 p.m. each evening, and admission is $3 for adults for the quarter-finals and semi-finals on all seats, and $5 for ringside seats the night of the finals, with general admission ducats going for $3 on championship night.

Children under 16 years of age will be admitted for half-price each night of the competition.

Fukuyama KOs Carlos Perez

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Left-hooking Shig Fukuyama, 127, Tokyo, stopped Carlos Perez, 127, Guadalajara, Mexico, in 1:38 of the opening round of a scheduled 10-round fight at the Olympic Auditorium Thursday night.

Fukuyama had the slightly favored Perez on the canvas twice from left hooks. Referee John Thomas halted the bout after Perez got up wobbly after the second knockdown.

It was the third straight knockout win for Fukuyama, who improved his record to 22-7 with his 14th career KO. Perez now is 7-2-1.

Broncs blow lead in losing to UCR

Cal Poly's woes in the California Collegiate Athletic Association continued to mount Thursday, as they dropped a 6-3 decision to UC Riverside in 10 innings.

The Broncos led the CCAA contest 2-0 going into the ninth, but UCR scored twice in that frame and four more in the 10th to win it.

Poly scored in the bottom of the first off of UCR pitcher Cary Smith. Steve Ludewig reached on an error, took third on Pete Alexander's single, and scored as Smith uncorked a wild pitch.

Dale Biggs made it 2-0 in the second, as he blasted a Smith delivery over the left field fence.

Vic Bernal made that lead stand up for eight innings, but ran into trouble in the ninth.

Dennis Stout, former Chaffey College star, led off that frame with a single. John Henderson followed with another one-bagger, and the Highlanders had the tieing runs on base.

Bernal got Toby Rehan to ground out, but Bill Taylor singled in Stout with the first UCR run. Hank Macias then nicked Bernal for a double, scoring Henderson and knotting the game at 2-2.

UCR came up with four in the 10th to win it.

Mark Allen led the inning off with an infield single. Bernal then committed a throwing error on Stout's grounder, putting Highlanders at first and third. Bernal bore down to get two outs, but Rehan lifted a fly to right which Dave Metkovich dropped as Allen scored the tie-breaker.

Riverside went on to score three more unearned runs in the frame to give Smith plenty of cusion.

The loss drops the Broncos to a 2-9 CCAA record, while UCR levels off at 4-4 in league. Overall, Cal Poly will be 13-19 going into Saturday's doubleheader at UC Riverside.

Azusa Pacific found things a bit more pleasant at their diamond, as they downed Occidental 7-6.

After Oxy's Roger Mejia had put his team on top with a two-run homer in the sixth, the Cougars' Curt Mitchell came back to tie things at 6-6 with a solo blast in the bottom of the inning.

APC then won it in the seventh on Ed Shaw's triple and Ted Dominquez's RBI single. Jim Donker went the distance for the mound victory.

APC, now 14-10 on the year, travels to Riverside Saturday as well, as the Cougars will meet Cal Baptist in a twinbill.

Old Sharks now Stags in Michigan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The World Hockey Association Los Angeles Sharks fell victim Thursday to that old maxim — too many cooks spoil the broth.

The Sharks, established as a franchise in 1971, was that one too many cooks in a sports town that supports the football Rams, the baseball Dodgers, basketball Lakers and hockey Kings.

New Sharks' owners Peter J. Shagena and Charles H. Nolton announced Thursday that the club was moving to Detroit next season and changing its name to the Michigan Stags.

"Since purchasing this franchise earlier this year our research shows it is a financial impossibility to continue the franchise in Los Angeles," the owners said in a statement.

In the club's first year here the Sharks made the World Trophy playoffs. But last season the Sharks finished in last place in their division and broke the WHA record for most losses in a season.

"It is with mixed emotions that we make this announcement since we have made many new friends in the Los Angeles area," the owners said.

"The move to Detroit—long a hotbed of hockey—allows us to keep the franchise active and hopefully financially solvent. We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the fans of the Los Angeles Sharks."

UCLA'S UNBEATEN TENNIS TEAM won its 13th dual match of the season Thursday by defeating SMU 7-2 at Westwood.

SPORTS NEWS IN BRIEF

MARV MONTGOMERY, former USC offensive tackle, Thursday spurned an offer from the Southern California Sun of the new WFL and signed a multiyear contract with the Denver Broncos of the NFL. "The city of Denver and its people have been great," said the three-year veteran. "When you make a big decision, you have to take everything into consideration not just money."

SHIRLEY BABASHOFF captured the 200-yard freestyle event Thursday and set another new American record of 1:48.79 in the National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships in Dallas, Texas.

BUTCH GORING of the Los Angeles Kings has been named Southern California's Athlete of the Month for March by the Citizens's Savings Athletic Foundation. Goring led the Kings in scoring this season with 28 goals and 33 assists for 61 points.

NORTHERN ARIZONA UNIVERSITY Thursday named John Birkett, an assistant at UC Santa Barbara, as head basketball coach succeeding Herb Gregg who relinquished the job after 24 years.

THE THIRD ANNUAL ALAN KING-CAESARS PALACE TENNIS CLASSIC will be held at Caesars Palace in Las Vegas May 13-19.

1973 POLE SITTER JOHNNY RUTHERFORD was among the entries received Thursday for the 1974 Indianapolis 500. Others were England's David Hobbs and veteran Jim Hurtubise.

WILLIE STARGELL Thursday was given the Roberto Clemente Award for exceptional service to baseball by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. Stargell led the major leagues last year in home runs (44), runs batted in (119) doubles (43), slugging (.646) and game-winning hits (28).

'Pack golfers win tourney

RIVERSIDE — Claremont High won its second golf tournament of the week Thursday, capturing the Norte Vista Invitational held at Indian Hills Country Club.

Claremont had a 376-stroke total to finish far ahead of Rancho of Las Vegas. Rancho had a 405 total, while Marina and Palmdale tied for third with 409.

Ralph Hawes, Frank Sowin, Chuck Rosin, Mike Bicker, and Claye Atcheson composed the five-man Wolfpack squad, as the 376 they carded was a new tourney record in the five-year-old event.

Sowin, Hawes, and Manuel Delgado of Palmdale all finished tied at 73 in the individual competition. Sowin then won a playoff on the third hole of sudden death to walk away with individual low-score honors. Hawes wound up second in the tourney.

The Pack linksters will be back in action Monday as they host Kuartz Hills in a non-league match.

Bruins end home slate

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA's Bruins wind up their home track and field season Saturday against the Oregon Webfoots in an important Pacific-8 dual meet at Drake Stadium.

The Bruins and Oregon finished one-two in last year's NCAA meet, UCLA's third straight national championship.

Jim Bush's team is 6-0 this spring and has a duel meet victory streak of 23.

Unusual, interesting --and beautiful, too

Roses, azaleas, bottle brush and hibiscus are famous names in the gardening world—for good reason. They're highly publicized as they provide abundant color, and serve admirable as landcape shrubs.

In addition, there are many lesser-know shrubs available to California gardeners; interesting and worthwhile shrubs for borders and foundation plantings, for filling other garden situations. Among the myriad varieties of such shrubs available are a few the California Association of Nurserymen might term more unusual than others.

Brunfelsia is called "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." Its flowers change color as they age. Yesterday they were violet. Today they are lavender. Tomorrow they'll be white. The foliage is soft green; the plant may be trained as a semi-vine. Inland, where summers are hot, an east exposure is good.

Continuous color is to be enjoyed from beleperone—shrimp plant. It is low-to-medium growing and thrives best in partial sun. The attractive flower spikes of coppery bronze bracts enclose small cream and purple flowers over a long blooming season. Growth is compact and the plant will take some shaping if you are so inclined.

Rockrose is a cistus—but no matter what it's called, it's attractive and versatile. There are different varieties of pinks and whites available at CAN nurseries, and flowers are a good size. Rockroses are ideal in hard-to-water garden situations. They are low-growing and drought resistant—their foliage is a handsome deep green.

The hardy dwarf flowering pomegranate grows throughout California. Its carnation-type flowers are a brilliant scarlet and are followed by attractive red fruits which provide additional color to the fall garden.

There are many other unusual shrubs available in the various climates of California. They play a big part in providing the beauty which gardeners seek.

FOR BUDGET MINDED — These Masterpiece mums, purchased unbudded in garden packs or small pots, are one of the best buys on the spring garden market. The mums will develop a rich green foliage in spring and summer and provide a vibrant palette of color in the fall.

Plant mums this spring for long-lasting color

If you have a garden area that calls for bold colors, consider Masterpiece garden mums this spring. A recent introduction from Yoder Brothers of Barberton, Ohio, Masterpiece mums are among the newest developments in Yoder's quarter century of highly-specialized mum propagation, hybridizing and plant improvement.

The Masterpiece garden mums available in the spring at garden outlets everywhere are strongly-rooted cuttings, about 3 to 4 inches of healthy green. If you want to stretch your garden dollar, young mum plants not in bud, and planted in garden packs, are one of the best buys on the flower market. Some may be in 3 or 4-inch individual pots as larger, more mature specimens.

Mum plants in flower at this time of year can be cut back after flowering, allowed to mature and develop, then pinched or disbudded in order to reward you with a second blossoming in the fall.

Masterpiece mums are individually labeled by pot or pack with a colored label to show you what you can anticipate in the way of color and shape of the future flower, as well as giving a full description and the name.

In the Masterpiece mum collection previewed last year by garden editors throughout the country there was something for every preference. If you like light lavender pink in a daisy-type chrysanthemum flower, ask for Stardom. Light bronze Starlet is the spoon daisy in the collection, a chrysanthemum with tabular petals; Baby Tears is a small, dainty button pompon in pure white; lemon yellow Classic and ivory white Cloud-9 are the larger decorative varieties; light pink Elegant Cusion, dark yellow Goldtone, red-bronze Minnautumn, white Penguin, yellow Pixie Cusion and orange-bronze Flaming Sun are the intermediate-size pompons. In the spring and summer garden, all 12 develop with rich green foliage to make an attractive growing bed even before blossoming.

Masterpiece garden mums respond vigorously to pinching with a compact, sturdy growth. Tips of the growing shoots should be pinched when the young plants are 4 to 5 inches tall. By using your thumb nail and index finger, you can nip off about an inch of the soft growth at the tip of each growing shoot. As new shoots reach 2-3 inches, repeat the pinching procedure. Continue until July 10 in northern states, July 20 in the central states and August 1 in the southern states. In most cases with growth kept on the short side, stakin is rarely necessary.

Watering garden mums is a problem only if it is neglected. Chrysanthemums should never be allowed to dry out to the point of wilting. If rainfall is slight, supplementary watering is a must to maintain growth. It's a good idea to plant Masterpiece mums initially in fertile, well-drained soil, but not all gardens are blessed with ideal plant environment. Addition of several inches of rotted compost, peat moss, leafmold or other oganic material to chrysanthemum beds will supplement less than perfect soil. Monthly applications of dry 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 fertilizer at the rate of one or two lbs. per 100 sq ft will stimulate vigorous growth.

Natural blossoming sequences for Masterpiece mums start in mid-September and continue until frost, usually long after other garden flowers have passed their peak of perfection. From your initial small investment in young Masterpiece plants, you will find your fall garden a tapestry of beautiful color that is the special pride of gardeners who resist the end of their summer-long hobby as long as possible.

Dye rattan for splash of color

As warm weather approaches and people begin to catch spring fever, thoughts will be turning to outdoor living. With the energy crisis affecting everyone, more and more recreation time will be spent at home by patio or poolside. Many will want to get ready for summer by redecorating.

Redecorating outdoor areas can be fun and inexpensive with rattan furniture. Buy natural-colored rattan and dye it — for a big splash of excitement! The Hong Kong variety of rattan is the best for dying. It doesn't have a lacquer coating, so the dye will soak in more thoroughly. Also, the rattan material is tied while still wet and then left to dry, so no glue is used.

To begin dyeing, fill a five-foot plastic swimming pool with 3½ inches of water and add six bottles of your favorite color dye. This will dye about eight pieces of furniture. Simply swish the dye over the furniture. Baste the hard-to-get places to insure even coloring. Leave the rattan in the pool approximately 30 minutes. Remember to pick a dry, warm day so the rattan has a full 24 hours to dry.

Dyeing rattan is a fun way to spend an afternoon and create something beautiful and exotic for the home.

The home gardener

Plant your new lawn carefully

By Sheila and Allan Swenson
NEA Garden Columnists

Lawn seed is the least expensive part of developing a good lawn. It pays to plant it well.

Some lawn-seed varieties will be in short supply this year, and the better new cultivars are more costly. These improved lawn grasses don't yield as much seed as other varieties, it seems.

So, prepare your seedbed well. For complete new lawns, rototilling is the easiest method. After tilling, rake the surface smooth. You'll need about two pounds of quality seed per 1,000 square feet. Avoid cheap seed. You'll be faced with weed problems, or in blends, too high a proportion of less-desirable grasses.

Dethatch an older lawn that has excessive organic layering of leaves and clippings embedded in it by careful raking. Power rakes or special dethatchers often can be rented. If you just want to renovate a thin lawn, scarifying with a steel rake is important. Scratching the soil lets seeds work their way into the earth, especially if it has become compacted.

When doing an entire area, spread lawn fertilizer before you rake. A 10-8-8 or 20-10-10 is good, since grass is a big user of nitrogen for leaf growth.

Sow seed smoothly, either by hand, walking criss-cross to get even distribution, or by spreader.

Once the seed is sown, reverse your rake or pull a coor mat over the area to smooth it evenly and tuck seed into soil better.

In spring, a thin mulch of peat moss, clean straw or similar loose materials sprinkled on the seeded area helps. Then water well and every few days to keep soil moist as seeds germinate. After that, only light sprinklings will be needed.

Many new seed varieites, improved to create more beautiful, tougher lawns, are now being introduced. Most are more heat, drought and disease resistant. Read the labels before you decide which variety is best for your area.

Although more costly than older types, these new varieties, properly planted, can reward you with more carefree lawns for years to come.

(Note: Fall is best lawn making time. Spring is next best.

New process weatherproofs furniture for patio pool

Finkel Outdoor Products of California have introduced a line of patio furniture in their showrooms at the L.A. Mart with a novel weatherproofing feature. The new process, Polyester Powder Coating, enables the tubular steel outdoor furniture to withstand the toughest weather conditions.

The electrostatic finish holds its gloss for years, assures permanent color brilliance that won't crack, fade or yellow from sun exposure and protect against surface corrosion.

Wide diagonal straps of vinyl are used for arm chair and reclining lounger in one of the sets from Finkel. Another set uses narrow vinyl woven in an open lattice pattern for a barrel chair and matching lounger. An outdoor dining table with rigid mesh table top can be adjusted to two table heights. It may be ordered with an umbrella slot. Matching chairs have rigid mesh seats and backs.

Jungle green and bright yellow are the two colors most favored in the new groups.

Finkel Outdoor Products are sold through furniture and patio stores throughout the West.

Kitchens increase roles

Gourmet kitchens now come in more shapes, sizes, and decorative moods than ever. But whether they are blue jean-casual or lame housecoat formal, most have two interrelated things in common: An area for family eating — and even entertaining — and beautifully shaded window treatments.

Nowadays, when host and hostess are so frequently the cooks, some of the best parties start with hors d'oeuvres in the kitchen or end there with a nightcap. This has made "kitchen dress up" a "must," and window shades offer important decorative as well as practical advantages. A kitchen needs streamlined window treatment and good light for cooking, and a translucent shade fills both bills handsomely. Moreover, it is usually as wipe-cleanable as the counter over which it presides.

Many of the leading designers give as much thought to this room as to any other in the house. For example, who ever heard of having a foil and white wallcovering in the kitchen? Designer Charlotte Finn, NSID, used it without qualm because, lush though it may seem, it responds beautifully to soap-and-water care. Brenenman's White Heather shade did the window-spanning job with a Mylar border to produce its own silvery-highlights. An extra row of geranium red braid calls attention to the shade's relationship to the canisters and counters, and to the peninsula that adds catch-a-meal space — and which doubles for serving when big dinners are in the works.

Conversely, an open plan kitchen by designers Julie Denison and Ray Kindell, AID, includes a separate dining area in which a whimsical interpretation of an old fashioned mood is followed through with a skirted table, a Tiffany lamp, and a collection of antique tin boxes, providentially found in many of the colors of the fabric used at the window.

The chevron striped cafe curtains were teamed with a matching shade laminated with Tran-Lam, Stauffer's do-it-yourself, iron-on method, in which the heat of the iron bonds the fabric to the shade cloth. An extra brass curtain ring, used as shade pull, joins in the decorative "round-robin."

A small kitchen that refuses to acknowledge its space limitatioons was created by Peg Walker, and a mobile cart and tall bar stools produce a "soda fountain" air for roll-out meals. Between times, it retreats to the kitchen for extra counter space, or goes to the living room for bar service.

Joanna's glass fiber, heat-deflecting, Comfort Shade drops neatly into the small window space between the cabinets. Its unusual, see-through capacity adds a special dividend; the cook can see out but, during the day, no one can see in. This open mesh quality breaks down the barrier between indoors and out, so that one can enjoy the garden — and see who is coming up the path — without sacrificing privacy or protection from the sun's glare. Avocado Stik-Fast across the shade's border doffs its color cap to the printed wall covering, and shade and trimming both bow to soap and water.

A room divider strung with twine subtly indicates the threshhold of the kitchen without blocking off light and air from the dining room — where the sliding door to the garden also boasts a Comfort Shade.

Aren't these really entertaining ideas? And they are just provocative samples of the limitless ways to cater to your kitchen!

Four, five beers made him do it

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A streaker's reason for doing it: he had four or five beers, and on a dare crossed the field at Milwaukee County Stadium during the opening day baseball game wearing only a sweatshirt.

Gary Boncher, 22, paid a $25 fine Monday for trespassing on a ball field last Friday during the Brewers-Red Sox game.

Vegetables for every garden

Garden-fresh produce is something everybody likes to think about and all too few actually do anything about. The excuse is usually a lack of garden space or too little time. Perhaps now that you have more time to spend around the garden and food costs skyrocket, you'll take a second look at a vegetable garden.

The California Association of Nurserymen says there's no garden to small for at least a few good crops, no gardener too busy to indulge in the pleasures of home-grown vegetables.

As for space—how much space do a few pole beans take? They can be grown against a boundry fence and few plants will supply a good number of succulent bean dishes. Train two or three tomato plants up a garage wall or on a lattice against the back fence.

How about utilizing a large redwood container or box on the patio for some vegetable delicacies? Onions can be grown in any sunny bed. Any garden can accommodate a row of Swiss Chard. One could go on and on about vegetables being grown in small areas. Check with your nurseryman, he'll show you how.

Time wise, the busy gardener will find that the vegetables he likes require only a minimum of time and effort. The youngsters in the family will get a great kick out of vegetable garden. It's educational and entertaining for them to plant their own. Then come harvest time, you'll be surprised how many young people will "eat their spinach" after they've watched it grow.

For the gardener who really wants to indulge himself, members of CAN nurseries offer seedling lettuce plants, easily transplanted to the garden. Cauliflower, Celery, Peppers, Eggplants, Tomatoes and others are also available as seedlings for the easiest culture. You can't really know how easy it is to grow these things until you try them, and you'll never know what you're missing until you pick your first crop of Beans and eat your first vine-ripened Tomato. Once you know, you'll wonder why you only talked about garden-fresh produce for so many years.

Reduced driving is boon to homeowner

No one likes the restrictions on weekend driving—but at least there are some compensating advantages. It provides "extra" time to do things for which there never seemed to be time before. For the homeowner, it could be a home improvement project—such as screening in the patio, repainting the house, replacing those sagging gutters, or putting in a fence, a swimming pool, a deck.

One of the simplest and most rewarding improvement projects is beautifying the home lawn. Dramatic progress can be made at relatively little expense, with just a few hours of work spread out over several weekends. No special training or skill is required, because so much information is available. You can get advice and literature at most retail outlets handling lawn products. Or you can write directly to many lawn companies. Scotts, for example, will answer any question you ask, or put you on their mailing list to receive their famous lawn care bulletins free.

Actually, a lawn improvement program isn't very complicated. The key elements are adequate watering (nature does most of that), periodic fertilizing, and control of weed, insect or fungus invaders. Of these, periodic fertilizing is the KEY key. It's what really builds up turf, gets it thick and sturdy and green. How often is "periodic?" Depends a lot on the fertilizer used. The best choice is a slow-release, prolonged feeding lawn food (Scotts Super Turf Builder is the most popular). Ideally it should be spread every two months during the growing season.

Weed control today, for most common weed varieties, is quite simple. Some can be prevented with a pre-emergence control, others can be cleared out with a post-emergence control. Either or both controls are even available combined with slow-release fertilizer, so your weeding can be taken care of automatically when you fertilize. A true work saver!

Lawn insect control and lawn fungus control can be used as preventives, but most lawnowners tend to use them as cures, only if and when the problem arises.

Beautifying the lawn makes extra sense in this era of reduced driving and more home time. It also fits in nicely in today's fast moving, highly industrialized world. "Getting back to the soil" has a therapeutiic as well as a creative value, providing a counterbalance to pressure and tension. It refreshes and relaxes us, and restores a sense of proportion in the midst of events surrounding us. Therefore, it's likely that those who may this year stay home and get closer to greenery, will discover benefits that will not be lost when gasoline again flows freely, which hopefully will be soon.

Woman seeks Fireman's job

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Kathie Braidigan, 28, the mother of three, is not sure she can do the chinups, pushups, weight lifting and mile run in the agility test required to become a fire fighter. But she is going to try it.

Mrs. Braidigan, whose husband is a fireman, applied for a job as a fire fighter Monday, the first day women were eligible.

"I think it would be good if there were women in the fire department," she said. "I don't think I'm going to pass the agility tests, but I think it's worth trying."

Braidigan, 31, a 10-year veteran fireman, said he was rooting for his wife.

"I've got a good name on this job, and I wouldn't want anyone to call her chicken."

Versatility is name of Dahlia game

If you are looking for summer-long color in quantity, plus a wide variety of flower size and shape on dwarf, medium or tall plants you'll find it all in the dahlia family. Versatility is another name for this wonderful group of flowers.

Dahlias come in more models than a new car, there being a dozen or more different classes into which they fall. The smallest are the pompons and the largest are the formal and informal decorative dahlias, these being more for show by the specialist than for general garden use. If you plan to grow the huge decorative forms, give them a bed by themselves for they take poorly to competition.

Dahlias thrive best under coastal conditions where humidity is high and the soil often sandy in nature. They do well inland when plenty of water is avilable throughout the summer. Members of the California Association of Nurserymen suggest adding peat moss to the soil before setting dahlia tubers out this month and next.

Plant the tubers in holes six inches deep, setting them horizontally in the hole and driving a stake in at the end where the growing "eye" is located. Staking is not necessary with many of the smaller varieties. Ask your nurseryman when you purchase the tubers.

The tuber is covered with about three-inches of soil and later as the sprouting stalk pushes up the hole is gradually filled until bed-level is reached. Feed with a commercial fertilizer that's not to high in nitrogen (azalea camellia food is good), timing the first feeding when the plants have several weeks growth and repeating monthly for good results. More flowers and increased garden color are had by pinching the plants a couple of times to encourage bushy growth, then letting flower buds form and bloom where they may without nipping them off.

Cold water lulls steam

You won't steam up your bathroom with a hot tub if you run in a couple of inches of cold water before turning on the hot.

Fashion equal with function in modern dining furniture

While far-out futuristic designs in home furnishings may start a lot of conversation and be picked up by the adventuresome few, they're seldom what the value-conscious consumer really wants.

Instead, she opts for comfort, good taste, and the kind of timeless design that assures her and her family of lasting livability. And it's just this kind of approach that's being reflected in many of the introductions at the 1974 home furnishings markets in Chicago and other major cities.

Highlighting the new collection of metal dining furniture are contemporary adptations of 18th and 19th century American designs, fresh treatments of the increasingly popular natural look, and wider use of stylish casters that add the element of mobility to those of bodily comfort and easy maintenance.

With more and more homemakers choosing metal sets for use in living-dining rooms and family rooms, the utilitarian dinette look is virtually a thing of the past.

Even compact sets scaled for small apartment kitchens now put fashion on an equal footing with function.

Among new pieces this year is a sleekly styled armchair of round chrome tubing with natural cane seat and back panels set in a contoured maple frame, complemented by polished maple arm-rests. This chair coordinates with a variety of tables, including 42-inch round models in two styles, each with a choice of clear or smoked galss top and gleaming chrome base.

Particularly suitable for multipurpose family dining areas are versatile 36-inch-square extension tables that readily expand from comfortable bridge or game table size to 36 by 48 or 36 by 60 inches.

One such table features U-shaped legs in rounded chrome tubing with a melamine laminate top that effectively simulates natural Butcher Block. Another is modeled after the classic parsons table with square chorme legs and frost white melamine top, while the third features round chrome legs with shaped corner aprons underscoring a Butcher Block pattern top.

Any one of these two-leaf extension table styles may be used with the new cane-and-chrome armchair.

Reminiscent of 19th century Shaker furnishings is a new contemporary metal interpretation of the ladder-back chair. This chair is shown in black, bisque, and pineapple finished contrasted by bright brass-plated finials.

Ideal for small quarters is a new three-piece grouping that combines two ladder-back chairs in pineapple and a 30-inch-round table with floor-hugging pedestal base in matching finish. The chair's tailored seat cushion is covered in pineapple fabric-supported vinyl, while the table top is in frost white melamine.

Also featuring ladder-back chairs, this time in black finish with charming patchwork harvest fabric-backed vinyl upholstery, is a five-piece set with a 36-inch-square extension table surfaced in new colonial plank pattern melamine laminate. Two matched leaves make it possible to stretch the table top to 48 or 60 inches in length.

The space-saving harvest table, traditonally associated with 18th century American design, has now gone International, too.

Measuring 20 by 48 inches closed, 36 by 48 inches with both 8-inch leaves raised, the new contemporary harvest table is teamed up with a new 45-inch bench and two coordinated chairs. This practical four-piece set is available in a choice of black, pineapple, or bisque metal finish, and in a wide range of table top and vinyl upholstery patterns. Snap-on pillows for the spindle backs of the bench and chairs are optional.

Though Americans may be putting in fewer miles on the highways this year, many will make up for it at home, and will be attracted to the numerous new dining sets that offer swivel chairs on casters for easy mobility.

This feature was previously limited to the high-style collections, distinguished by sculptured bases of polished aluminum with woodgrain inserts. For 1974, however, the popular ball-type casters are optional equipment on chairs in five different styles with bases in a choice of several finishes.

Color adds yet another new dimension to one of these chairs. Its contoured plywood back is finished in translucent pineapple or bisque, to blend with metal bases in either color, as well as in natural walnut tone to complement a bronze-tone base.

In addition to the brand new styles introduced at the 1974 home furnishings markets, manufacturers continue to offer a wide range of Early American and Mediterranean designs, as well as moderately priced collections of pedestal and four-leg sets. In many cases, the consumer may choose from up to 45 different upholstery patterns and over 20 melamine plastic table top patterns, as well as any desired combination of table and chairs to exactly fit her space and decorating needs.

Radioman quits over insomnia

LONDON (UPI) — Robert Robinson, anchor man of the British Broadcasting Corporation's early morning current affairs program "Today," is quitting because "I am slowly turning into an insomniac."

Robinson, 46, who has had to leave his house at 5 a.m. to present his early morning show for the past three years, said recently: "I go to bed at 9:30 p.m. but I can never sleep before at least 11:30. Then I keep waking up to make sure how much time I have left to sleep."

Gardener's Checklist

1. English Primrose plants may be divided as soon as they finish their spring bloom.
2. If you forgot to plant that shade tree this past winter, it's still not too late. Your local nursery has shade trees growing in containers which may safely be planted now.
3. Warm weather vegetables such as cucumbers, squash, beans, corn, tomatoes, peppers and eggplant may be planted now.
4. Don't forget azaleas for that shady corner. Azaleas in full bloom are available now in nurseries making selections easy.
5. Begin a regular pest control program for your roses and spray at regular intervals.

Standard education programs sought by landscape experts

The California Landscape Contractors Association has called for a revamping of the state educational curriculum for the horticultural industry.

A five-point program resulting in the eventual up-grading of all horticultural courses in the state educational system has been recommended by the Association's Education Coordination Committee headed by San Rafael landscape contractor Frank Peccorini.

Serving on the committee with Peccorini, are instructors from a dozen community colleges landscape architects and contractors from throughout the state.

The committee is attempting to develop standardized courses in the community colleges which, to date, have been implemented on a "haphazard" and individual basis, according to Peccorini.

The quality of students coming into the profession varies from school to school, Peccorini said, "and we're just trying to develop uniform programs that will produce qualified personnel for all the related segments of the landscape industry."

The five-point program calls for:

1. A curriculum that will establish minimum standards acceptable to all segments of the industry.
2. Accreditation of acceptable programs and recognition of certificates and degrees.
3. Funding through vocational monies for industry courses, to be restricted to industry-accredited programs.
4. Establishment of an industry placement bureau for students.
5. Programs of continuing education for the continuous up-grading of the industry.

While the committee is concentrating its efforts on California's community colleges, it plans to expand to include universities, vocational programs and high schools.

Elton John record denotes upturn in career of British-born star

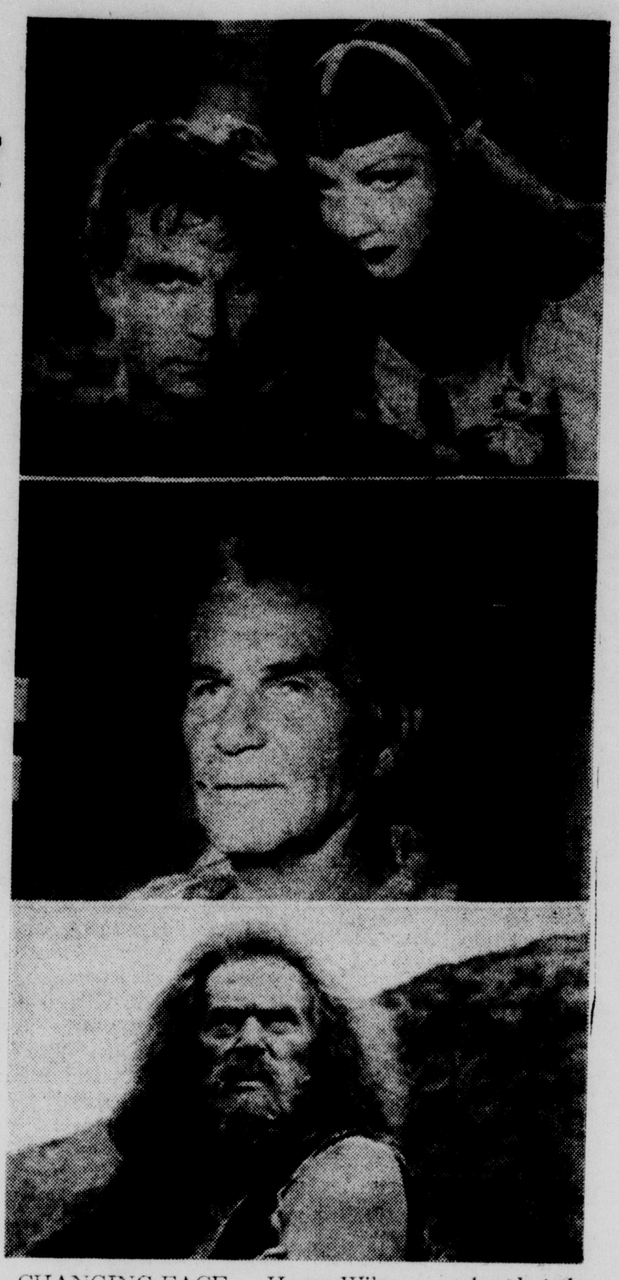
By BRUCE MEYER

Elton John may know something about the future of rock 'n' roll the rest of us haven't figured out yet, and his latest album may be a hint. The album, "Goodbye Yellow Brick Road (MCA2-10003) is a masterfully produced showcase for Elton's many-facated talent.

Elton's real name is Reg Dwight. He was born in Middlesex County, England in 1947 and started playing piano at age 3. He studies at the Royal Academy of Music until his mother made the error of letting him hear some Bill Haley and Elvis Presley records. From than on, his soul belonged to rock 'n' roll.

Reg was still learning such delicate arts as playing the piano with his feet when he met Bernie Taupin through a newspaper ad, and Elton John was born — as a collaboration, not an individual. Bernie writes the words Reg writes the music—and Elton gets up on stage in his outrageous costumes to boogie for the people.

"Goodbye Yellow Brick Road" opens with the kind of big production insturmental number ("Funeral for a Friend") that runs the risk of seeming laughably pretentious: synthesizers and strings behind soaring guitars and Elton's familiar heavily chorded piano. But it works, primarily because of a superb arrangement and mix, and because it works the entire album gets a powerful boost right from the start.



CHANGING FACE — Henry Wilcoxon, who played Mark Antony opposite Claudette Colbert in "Cleopatra" in 1934 (top) will appear as Cana in Universal Television's "Cro-Magnon," set to air on ABC May 1 (bottom). At center is Wilcoxon as he looks today.

TV profile

'Rookie' tough cop avoids social whirl

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — If a television star could be described as holding down a lunch bucket job, then Gerald O'Loughlin, the tough cop of "The Rookies," would best fit the portrait.

O'Loughlin couldn't be farther removed from Zsa Zsa Gabor's Hollywood social whirl if he worked in a Pittsburgh steelmill. And the actor wouldn't have it any other way.

He's not anti-social, but neither is he anxious to read his name in the society columns.

O'Loughlin and his wife, Meryl — married seven years — live in a simple little house in the San Fernando Valley, which is to Los Angeles what Long Island is to Manhattan.

The house has four bedrooms to accommodate son Christopher, 6, daughter Laura, 4, and a live-in housekeeper who takes care of the kids.

Now the average Pittsburgh steel worker doesn't hire a housekeeper, and neither would the O'Loughlins if Meryl wasn't employed as the casting director for another television series, Buddy Ebsen's "Barnaby Jones."

But as is the case with her husband, Meryl isn't caught up in the exciting social life of Hollywood's beautiful people.

Like working people everywhere the couple rises at specific times each day and head for their jobs, although their hours are somewhat more demanding than most.

O'Loughlin is up at 5:30 a.m. in order to prepare himself for a skimpy breakfast, allowing enough time to drive to 20th Century-Fox studios by 7:30 for makeup. Meryl is able to sleep later, drives the youngsters to school and then heads for Goldwyn studios where she interviews actors for the "Barnaby Jones" shows.

Usually O'Loughlin is home by 5:30 in the evening in time to have dinner with Chris and Laura. Dinner is prepared by the housekeeper. Meryl has dinner by herself when she arrives home sometime after 6 p.m.

Because their homelife prohibits a normal amount of togetherness during the week, the O'Loughlin family makes up on weekends for going its separate way during the week. Parents and children stay around the house relaxing and talking together.

It is a Sunday morning ritual that Papa O'Loughlin takes the children out for breakfast at a restaurant while Meryl catches up on her sleep.

Gerald would like to own a trailer and a boat, but he has neither the time nor that much loose change at the moment.

He is a compulsive do-it-yourself fixer-upper around the house with a goodly collection of power tools in the garage, part of which he has transformed into a shop.

He loathes tennis, golf and other social sports. If he has a few minutes to call his own he sometimes frittters them away with a stamp collection he has had since childhood.

O'Loughlin once was a two-fisted drinker and a life of the party type. Now, at 50, he doesn't drink at all and avoids parties whenever he can, especially cast parties of his ABC-TV show. The other members of "The Rookies" are younger by many years than Gerald.

A native of New York, O'Loughlin starred in the theater for years before turning to motion pictures and television.

Opera stars set for 'Requiem'

CLAREMONT — A trio of noted opera stars will appear with the Pomona College Symphony Orchestra and Choir in a presentation of Verdi's "Requiem" April 20 and 21 in Bridges Hall of Music.

The program, under the direction of Giora Bernstein, will be performed at 8:15 p.m. April 20 and 3 p.m. April 21. All seats are reserved. General admission is $2 and the price for students is $1.

Mezzo-soprano Claudine Carlson, tenor Val Stuart and bass Harold Enns will be featured guest soloists in the performances, along with soprano Linda Sandusky of Claremont, a Pomona College senior and recipient of awards from the Metropolitan Opera and Young Musicians Foundation.

A native of Paris, France, Miss Carlson has appeared throughout the world with major orchestras and with the New York City Opera. Locally, she has been heard frequently at Monday Evening Concerts at the county Museum of Art, with the Los Angeles Philharmonic and Roger Wagner Chorale and at the Claremont Music Festival.

She has sung in two previous concerts with the Pomona College Choir and Orchestra, in Mahler's Second Symphony in 1971 and in Stravinsky's "Oedipus Rex" the following year.

Stuart, a member of the Scripps College faculty, previously sang Beethoven's Ninth Symphony in 1970 in celebration of the college's dedication of Thatcher Music Building. He has performed throughout America and on State Department-sponsored tours of South America and the Far East.

Enns, a leading baritone with the San Francisco Opera, has performed with the opera companies of Houston, San Diego, Los Angeles, Portland, Omaha and Honolulu and with the Metropolitan National Company.

He has been a featured soloist with the Los Angeles Philharmonic, Boston Symphony, San Francisco Symphony, National Symphony of Washington, D.C. and other orchestras under the direction of such conductors as Zubin Mehta, Erich Leinsdorf, Eduard van Beinum and Pierre Monteux.

Bernstein, associate professor of music at Pomona College and founder-director of the Claremont Music Festival, will conduct the more than 200 participants in these performances. The choir has been prepared by William F. Russell, chairman of the music department and Pomona College Choir director for nearly 25 years.

Tickets are now available at Thatcher Music Building, Fourth Street and College Avenue.

ALL AT SEA — Duane Thomas as Mr. Roberts checks the duty roster in the Gallery Theater production of the World War II comedy, "Mr. Roberts." Looking on are Bill Ennis, left; Joe Gossett, seated, and Doug Doud. The play goes at 8:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday. The theater is at C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario.

Championship to be filmed

LOS ANGELES — Columbia Pictures and Playboy Enterprises will film Jason Miller's Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "That Championship Season," this year.

In addition to the Pulitzer Prize, the play has received such honors as the New York Drama Awards and the Los Angeles Drama Critics' Award.

The play also generated good notices in all media, exemplified by Clive Barnes, writitng in the New York Times, who said—"Jason Miller's 'That Championship Season' is a play that, in the very best way, was made for Shubert Alley, precisely that kind of play Broadway needs so much and gets so rarely. . a great evening of old-style theater laced with new-style insight."

Second Presley show scheduled at Swing

SAN BERNARDINO — Because the Elvis Presley Show scheduled for Swing Auditorium May 10 is nearly sold out, a second show has been arranged for May 13.

National Orange Show officials, swamped with requests for tickets to the first show, talked with Presley and Col. Tom Parker, Presley's personal manager, and worked out a schedule which will permit the May 13 special.

"When it began to look like there would be many disappointed people in the Inland Empire if they were deprived of seeing Presley in person, we decided to make an attempt for the second appearance," said Robert McClure, secretary-manager of the Orange Show.

Tickets for the May 13 show will go on sale Saturday at the Orange Show Ticket Office, 693 S. E St., San Bernardino. Mail orders also will be accepted. Tickets are $10, $7.50 and $5.

There is no limit on ticket purchases. Those ordering by mail should send a money order or cashier's check for the amount of the ticket request, plus 50 cents for handling charges, and a self-addressed, stamped enveleope.

Poly to host theater fete for children

POMONA — Princes, frogs, magicians and a gorilla will dance around the Cal Poly quad April 20 and 21 in 14 different shows for the second Children's Theater Festival of Southern California.

Puppetry, pantomine, music and dancing, fairy tale plays, storytelling and audience participation will be presented in more than 40 individual performances from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. A dozen different theater companies and players groups from throughout Southern California will participate in the event co-sponsored by the Soutern California Education Theater Association, Southern California Education Theater Association, Southern California Children's Theater Association and Cal Poly drama department.

The Frog Prince, Gorilla Biscuits and Marlin the Magnificent are among the characters who will create the make-believe scenes on the lawns and in the small theaters on campus.

Two different shows will play concurrently every hour of the two days. Admission is 50 cents for children 4 to 12; $1 for children over 12 and $2.50 for adults.

Participating companies will be the South Coast Repertory of Costa Mesa; Les Masques Blacs of Santa Barbara; the Aprenda Players of San Pedro; Canterbury Players of Inglewood; Rags and Bags Puppet Theater, and Round-About Theater, both from Rio Hondo College; and Los Angeles City Youth Services Strolling Players.

Other theater companies will come from Cal State Northridge, Cal State Long Beach, Los Angeles City College, the University of Redlands, Mt. San Antonio College and Cal Poly.

Blind folk singer to perform at UCLA

LOS ANGELES — Arthel "Doc" Watson, blind guitarist and singer from Deer Gap, N.C., and his musical group will perform Tuesday evening at 8:30 in Royce Hall, UCLA.

The guitarist will be joined by his son, Merle, as accompanist on banjo and second guitar.

Watson was accidentally discovered during the folk craze of the 1960s by folklorist Ralph Rinzler who had gone south in search of Clarence Ashley. Watson was then playing electric guitar in a country swing band in North Carolina.

He made his first trip as a professional musician, at the age of 29, to Los Angeles to work a two-week engagement at the Ash Grove with the Clarence Ashley group.

Watson credits the Delmore Brothers, Jimmie Rogers and Merle Travis for his widely praised guitar technique.

Reserved seats for the UCLA appearance are available now at the UCLA Central Ticket office, 650 Westwood Plaza, and all Mutual and Wallich's Music City agencies. For information, interested persons should call (213) 825-2953 or dial UCLA 953.

Knotts to star in 'Dirty Mind'

HOLLYWOOD — Don Knotts will star in the Jules Tasca adult comedy "The Mind with the Dirty Man," opening April 25 at the Huntington Hartford Theater.

Under the guidance of Gordon Davidson, artistic director of the Center Theater Group of the Los Angeles Music Center, "The Mind with the Dirty Man" was first developed and performed (with Joe Flynn starring) at the Mark Taper Forum in July 1972. The new Hartford production is being presented by arrangement with CTG.

David Lonn, managing director of the Arlington Park Theater in Chicago, presented Knotts in the production in June 1973 for six weeks. Audience demand prompted a return engagment, again with Knotts, in November which was sold out prior to opening. The production garnered three of Chicago's Joseph Jefferson Theater award nominations—Don Knotts, best actor; Edward Parone, best director, and best new play.

A satirical comedy, the play centers around a man considered an outstanding member of the community. Hilarious entanglements ensue when he is persuaded by the local movie censor board to spearhead its drive against the infiltration of pornographic films.

The role of Knotts' wife will be played by Pamela Britton. The supporting cast includes Peter Ratray, Nedra Deen, Al Checco and Paul Shear. Edward Prone, who directed the Mark Taper and Arlington Park Theater productions, will repeat his assignment at the Hartford.

Low-priced preview performances will be given April 23 and 24 at 8:30 p.m. The regular performance schedule April 26 through May 26 is Tuesday through Saturday nights at 8:30, Sunday at 7:30 p.m., and matinees Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Opening night curtain on April 25 will be at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available through the Huntington Hartford box office, (213) 462-666, and all Liberty, Mutual and Wallichs ticket agencies. For group sales, interested persons should contact the theater.

Angel issues recording of Rossini opera

By WILBUR G. LANDREY

NEW YORK (UPI) — This has already been a rich opera season for the recording industry, and now it is made richer by the first complete recording of the original French version of Gioacchino Rossini's last opera, "William Tell."

In addition, two more of the Metropolitan opera recordings of the 1940s and 50's — "La Boheme" and "Lucia di Lammermoor" — have been issued. And we have a new set of Puccini's "The Girl of the Golden West."

This is only a partial updating of the list. More are to come.

Tossini (1792-1868) was one of those fellows fortunate enough and successful enough to retire at the age of 37. "William Tell," based on Schiller's epic story and far less known than Rossni's masterpiece "Barber of Seville", nevertheless represents his magnificent final statement.

By issuing the first complete, first stereo version and the first in the original French, Angel has made an important addition to current discography.

The casting on this five record set (SEL-3793) is admirable with Lamberto Gardelli conducting the Ambrosian Opera Chorus and Royal Philharmonic orchestra.

Gabriel Bacquier sings the baritone role of Tell with weight and authority.

Amarillo Slim in Film

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Amarillo Slim, who bills himself as the world's champion poker player, will make his motion picture acting debut in a sequence of "California Split."

'Toreadors' in last week at Hartford

HOLLYWOOD — "The Waltz of the Toreadors," starring Eli Wallach and Anne Jackson, enters its final week Tuesday at the Huntington Hartford Theater.

The Jean Anouilh comedy goes at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and 2:30 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday.

Tickets are on sale at Mutual and Liberty agencies.
